FURNISH SENSATIONS

Party to Give Representatives of Corn Belt What They Want in Farm Plank

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright 1928 Post Pub. Co.)

Houston, Tex.—Smith and Robinson will be the Democratic ticket to oppose Hoover and Curtis.

Just as in Kansas City, where only one ballot was needed so here has the opposition crumbled and the nomination will be made almost immediately after the roll is called.

But between now and Thursday or Friday when the nominating process begins, the Democratic national convention already colorful and spectacular will furnish some political sensations that may materially affect the course of the campaign. One is the adoption of a rigid enforcement plank on prohibition. The friends of Governor Smith say that of course the New York governor wants to pledge himself to uphold the constitution and enforce the law. They will not insist on a declaration in favor of repeal but will be content with a declaration that it is the inalienable right of the people to change the law by constitutional methods.

The other sensation will come on the farm plank because the Democrats are planning to give the representatives of the corn belt exactly what they are asking for. George N. Peck, chairman of the North Central States Agricultural conference has submitted a plank similar to the one he tried to get adopted at Kansas City.

"We will get what we want here," the big question is whether the farm groups will then come out in support of Governor Smith.

"If the Democratic platform favors your plan of dealing with the export problem," he was asked by this correspondent, "will the conference you represent officially endorse Governor Smith?"

"I cannot at this time speak for the governors of the twelve states who called the conference," was the reply.
"But we shall have a meeting of all the leaders and shall compare the Republican and Democratic platforms and decide in favor of the platform that promises us the best solution. We are not primarily interested in politics.
We have tried to keep the question out of politics, but we must have full recognition of the problem. The party that meets the question squarely will benefit though I cannot at this time say just how our approval will be expressed."

NEED ORGANIZATION
Mr. Peck conceded that it would require organization and active advocacy of the Democratic platform to get Republican farmers to switch their votes.
The Democratic leaders here are disposed to give Mr. Peck his plank but they frankly doubt whether he can deliver any substantial farm votes.
And they have told him so. Still it is a state like Illinois the down-state Republican vote can be held down on protest expressed by refusing to go to the polls at all, the Cook county vote which is likely to be Democratic by a heavy margin may be enough to make Illinois a doubtful state.

So the farm plank on the one hand, calculated to arouse the protesting farmer, and the prohibition question intended to arouse the personal liberty element in the big eastern states constitute the crux of the whole convention now that the selection of Standard bearers has virtually been decided.

Debate on the platform will probably be the most interesting part of the convention. The corn belt leaders have surprised the Democrats by not even asking for a mention of either the equalization fee or the McNary-Haugen bill.

"We have never insisted on only one formula," explained Mr. Peck.
"We have merely said that we wanted the McNary-Haugen bill because no other plan met our approval was suggested in Congress."

"Now we feel that since the equalization fee has been called unconstitutional."

FOES CONCEDE
SMITH CHOICE
AT CONVENTION

New Favorite Sons Appear
Over Night to Confront Democratic Conclave

Houston—(P)—Alfred E. Smith enters the Democratic national convention Tuesday with first ballot votes definitely in line for him nearly 50 short of the nominating mark, but he is assured of so many more whenever he needs them that his friends and many of his political foes regard his nomination as inevitable.

Although his managers had given no indication that they were trying to bring about the New York governor's selection on the first roll call, there were predictions that this would happen.

As it shaped up Tuesday with the balloting for a presidential nominee still 48 hours away, the first ballot votes which have been announced as committed to Smith, either through given by individual delegates or by authorized spokesmen totalled 657 and 1-3 votes short of enough to put him over.

Here they are:
Arizona, 6; California, 26; Colorado,
12; Connecticut, 14; Delaware, 6; Idaho,
10; Illinois, 53; Iowa, 28; Kentucky,
26; Louisiana, 16; Maine, 16; Massachusetts,
20; Maine, 12; Maryland, 16; Massachusetts,
20; Maine, 12; Michigan, 30; Minnesota,
24; Montana, 8; Nevada, 6; New Hampshire,
8; New Jersey, 28; New Mexico, 6; New York, 90; North Carolina, 12; North Dakota, 10; Oregon,
10; Pennsylvania, 16; Rhode Island, 10;
South Dakota, 10; Utah, 8; Vermont,
6; Virginia, 6; Washington, 14; West Virginia,
10; Wisconsin, 26; Wyoming, 6; Alaska, 6; D. C., 6; Hawaii, 6; Philippines, 6; Porto Rico, 6; Cuba, 6;
Virgin Islands, 2.

The Smith managers expect to pick up before the windup more than enough votes to put their candidate over the 735 1-3 nominating mark from such states as Arkansas, Indiana, Kansas, Mississippi, Nebraska, Ohio,
Oklahoma, and Texas.

Virgo Bay, Spitzbergen, By Way of Kings Bay—(P)—Battled by heavy fog the rescue parties at Virgo Bay Tuesday were waiting further opportunities to take off the remaining members of the Noble party stranded off North East Land and Lieutenant E. Lundborg, Swedish flier, now marooned with them.

The huge Italian S-55, under command of Major Maddalena, and the Marin II, meanwhile will start toward the coast as soon as possible in search for the missing men of the balloon party.

Hope of saving the three men headed by Dr. Finn Malmgren, Swedish meteorologist, which started for land on foot almost a month ago is considered very small.

General Umberto Nobile, worn out by the privations of the past month and suffering from a broken leg, is resting in bed aboard the base ship Citta di Milano here under careful attention for his injuries and is believed to be free as possible from the worries of the rescue groups over their difficulties.

While the rescue planes, of which there are a half dozen, are being held down by fog, fear for the safety of the stranded party is not acute because the group now has plentiful food, having killed several polar bears with the weapons dropped last week by Major Maddalena and the Swedish leader, Captain Tornerberg.

ICE CONDITION EASIER
Ice conditions are growing easier for the ship and next week the expected to be moved eastward to Hinlopen strait, or perhaps even farther east or north. This would place the fliers within 150 miles of Foye island and within easier striking distance of the marooned men.

When the Swedish and Italian airplanes left Kings bay on Sunday for Virgo bay, every day was spent in the little mining town. Shortly after wards, however, the town was quiet under excitement by reports that General Nobile had been saved and taken to Virgo bay.

By chance a small fishing boat was lying near the coast and aboard this boat the correspondent for the Associated Press left for the north. The midnight sun was beaming and the weather was clear. After six hours journey the correspondent arrived in Virgo bay at Dane island. Sheltered

MISS EARHART BUYS
PLANE FOR LECTURES

London—(P)—Lady Heath, famous British aviatrix disclosed Tuesday that Miss Amelia Earhart had purchased the light moth plane in which Lady Heath had flown 11,500 miles from South Africa to London.

Miss Earhart will take the plane to America and use it in connection with a lecture tour. Lady Heath is anxious to retain final possession of the plane and it is understood that she has made an agreement to buy it back later if Miss Earhart is willing to sell. Lady Heath plans to visit the United States in the autumn.

Miss Earhart had kind words Tuesday for American newspaper correspondents in London. After a luncheon she met Bill Tilden, the American tennis star. They exchanged congratulations and Miss Earhart Tilden said she hoped he would win the Wimbledon tournament.

Prohibition Plank Only Worry To Platform Group

Houston—(P)—After days of preliminary skirmishing, those charged with framing the 1928 Democratic national platform turned Tuesday to the real work ahead of them with apparently but a single rift in the clouds, a disagreement over the prohibition plank.

Extreme views on the wet and dry question were presented by several eastern states on the one hand and the solid south on the other, with some prospects that only the convention itself could settle the issue. However, every effort will be made to compose the differences in the committee if that can be done.

The North Carolina delegation approved the bone dry plank adopted recently by its state convention.

Washington—(P)—Robert W. Ste-perjury Tuesday pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for Oct. 8.

Frank J. Hogan, Stewart's counsel, insisted that the chairman of the board of the Indiana Standard Oil Co. be placed on trial Wednesday, saying his client was innocent and sought an immediate hearing. Justice Frederick L. Siddons replied that the court was adjourning for a summer, "cess and the first available date for hearing the case was October. Stewart was released under $5,000 bond.

"I am sorry I did not get it," Stewart said. "The indictment is part of the political propaganda of which I have been a victim."

Stewart was indicted Monday on three counts of perjury growing out of his testimony before the senate oil committee during its investigation of the disposition of the Liberty bond oil profits of the Continental Trading company.

WOMAN CONFESSES TO AIDING INFANTICIDE

Sturgeon Bay—(P)—The story that a grandmother and the father of an illegitimate child had murdered the baby, every day was spent in the preliminary hearing of Matt McClash, Rowley's Bay youth.

McClash was held on a charge of first degree murder when District Attorney Grover Stapleton testified he had a confession of guilt from Mrs.
Blanche Ostram, mother of the baby's mother.

In her confession, Stapleton said she told how McClash had tried to place the child in an institution, but had failed. Finally, desperate, he bought poison from a Green Bay drug store and administered it while he held the child.

Previously, Mrs. Ostram has accused all the guilt.

EXCHANGE BOOTS STERN FOR SHADY STOCK DEAL

New York—(P)—Edwin H. Stern, member of the New York Stock Exchange, since Oct. 12, 1919, was expelled Tuesday for unethical business conduct.

Mr. Stern was a partner of the New York firm, Stern, Ostrum and acted on the floor of the exchange as a specialist or trader who makes a specialty of executing deals in certain stocks for other members.

On May 13, according to the charges against him, he had an order to sell 1,000 shares of a certain stock at $10 a share. On that day he received an order for 5,000 shares of the stock and under the rules governing specialists should have sold all of the 1,000 shares on the order. It was alleged, however, that he sold the trader wanting 5,000 shares but 4,000 shares and purchased the remaining 1,000 shares from himself at $10, and later sold the trader the 1,000 shares at $11.

DEFAULT WINS MATCH FOR OSHKOSH GOLF STAR

Buffalo, N. Y.—(P)—Miss Glenna
Colett, former national champion,
Miss Virginia Van Wye and Miss Maurice Greut, favorited in the eighth annual golf tournament at the Buffalo Country club, won first round matches Tuesday.

Miss Orcutt eliminated Maude Ross of Ottawa, 5 and 7; Miss Colett defeated Alice Beadles of New York 6 and 8; and Miss Van Wye won from Miss Ann Jannette Hunter of Pittsburgh 5 and 6.

Miss Bernice Wall, Oshkosh, Wis., defeated Mrs. Arthur Harrison, Buffalo, by default.

Georgia and Texas also went on record for strong planks while Senator Glass was prepared to represent the Virginia plank for enforcement of the prohibition amendment.

Maryland, New York, New Jersey and several other states were ready for a plank declaring at least for modification of the Volstead act. It was generally conceded that this plank would be voted down.

While a few individual delegates favored a farm relief declaration endor-sation at least the principle of the Mc-Nary Haugen bill with its equalization fee, the opinion would be general that planks would be general in character.

A declaration also would involve the tariff on which there will be a general pronouncement in favor of more equitable imports and condemning the present Republican tariff act as favoring certain industries to the detriment of others, particularly the agricultural industry.

After being formally named at the opening session of the convention at noon, the platform committee will meet early in the afternoon for a continuous session of public hearings on a variety of subjects, including prohibition, farm relief, equal rights for women, Philippine independence, and labor legislation.

CAL PADDLES WHILE

First Lady Causes Commotion on Visit to Duluth Hairdresser

Superior—(P)—President Coolidge, deciding to take advantage of the warm sunshine and the good condition of the roads, announced he would come to the executive offices here. He expected to start immediately after lunch.

Superior—(P)—The opening of the national Democratic convention in Houston Tuesday caused no ripples in the ordinary White House routine here. President Coolidge's quiet and sunny life on the Brule river was disrupted with attention being devoted to what business was at hand but with the natural beauty and the open air recreations of Cedar Island lodge claiming first place in the day's activities.

Mr. Coolidge had no closer contact with events at least than the average voter, the daily press and the radio being his only sources of information. The radio at the lodge, however, has proved very unsatisfactory so far owing to the interference caused by the little power station on the estate itself.

Mr. Coolidge was said to be, outwardly at least, far more interested at present in learning how to paddle a canoe than in watching the actions of the Democratic party. John Larock, his Chippewa guide, has been talking the chief executive of the tribe into teaching him how to hold the paddle and how to keep the fragile craft on its course without shifting from side to side.

Duluth, just across the Minnesota border, Monday received its first express train, the transfer of the White House to the head of the lakes, when Mrs. Coolidge motored there to visit a hairdresser.

The commotion created in Duluth was such that not only was the big department store, at which Mrs. Coolidge was to be crammed, but even the street in front of it blocked.

Special police details were offered out to handle the crowd.

Move to Record State's Choice for Committee Posts Blocked by Leaders

BULLETIN
Houston, Tex.—(P)—Through circulation of a petition, Mrs. Gertrude Bowler, retiring national committee woman, still hoped Tuesday to force the calling of a caucus for the Wisconsin delegation to the Democratic national convention. Leaders of the delegation have refused to hold a cau-sus, asserting there was no occasion for one.

"If we don't hold a caucus, we will be the only delegation here that does not," she said Tuesday morning.

BY DONALD C. BOLLIES,
A. P. Staff Writer

Houston, Tex.—(P)—A move by Mrs. Gertrude Bowler, Shelbyville, retiring national committeewoman, to have the Wisconsin delegation again go on record concerning its choice for national committee posts was blocked by the refusal of the leaders to call a caucus.

In refusing to call a caucus, the leaders, John Callahan, national committeeman, and George Dwinell, chairman of the delegation, contended that there was no occasion for a caucus.

Mrs. Bowler was displaced as the retiring Wisconsin member of the governing board of the party, at a meeting of the delegation last April, when Callahan and Mrs. James Carrigan, Milwaukee, were nominated. Callahan and Dwinell, disapproved. Callahan, Bowler's contention that it was necessary to call a caucus then and again act on the committee posts.

It was learned that they were furthered by an opinion of Clem Shaver, chairman of the national committee, that the result of the April caucus would be accepted as legal by the national committee.

The Shelbyville woman, who will retire from office at the close of the convention, after eight years service, explained that she did not hope for re-election, but merely asked a "square deal."

"As a member of the national committee, I have a right to an opportunity to stand for re-election," Mrs.
Bowler said. "I had no opportunity to present my name to the meeting April 18 when 15 delegates met with Callahan at a dinner in Milwaukee."

"If they want to elect Mrs. Carrigan that is all right with me and I am perfectly willing to retire, but I would like to have a vote taken on it, in which each delegate can vote his own convictions."

As reports Monday night were carried to Callahan and Dwinell of Mrs.
Bowler's contentions, they remained adamant in their decision not to hold a meeting of the delegation Tuesday.
Previously Mr. Callahan had announced a caucus would be held Tuesday morning.

The move on the part of Mrs. Bowler harked back to the fight for delegates in which she and Callahan backed different Smith slates: Callahan led the successful fight to elect a Smith slate nominated at a meeting of the central committee while Mrs. Bowler cast her lot with the defeated so-called state conference slate. Her displacement as national committeewoman followed the victory in which 25 so-called Callahan-Smith delegates were elected.

In the meeting April 15, Callahan won.

AIM OF LEGION IS NOT MILITARISTIC, SCHNELLER CLAIMS

Object of Organization Is to Help Invalid Soldiers, Lions Are Told

"The aim of the American Legion since its origin has been to help and keep in constant touch with invalid soldiers in hospitals, and those who are unable to work or to find work, and, within the past two years, to help the community at large," Col. F. J. Schneller, Neenah, commander of the state department of the American Legion told members of the Lions club at their regular meeting at the Conway hotel Monday noon.

"The policies and ideals of the legion are not militaristic. The legion is not trying to instill in the hearts of the people and especially the youth of today a spirit of militarism and warfare," the speaker continued.

"One of the chief aims is to protect youth. For that reason 1,200 signs are being placed at the entrance to Wisconsin cities, warning motorists to be careful and respect the lives of the children in the city they are about to enter."

"The work of the legion is not hopeless, and letters are being received from soldiers who have been helped and are now expressing their appreciation. The only thing we have been unable to do is to appropriate sums large enough to grant a more substantial amount to each soldier."

"Only once a year is the public asked to help the legion with its work, and that is on 'Poppy Day.' The sum asked of the community at that time is small and surely no one would be hard hearted enough to go without buying a poppy if they saw the actual condition some soldiers are in," Mr. Schneller said.

"The legion is glad to say that the sum collected this year was large enough to do some real work with. Each year the amount has been increasing, and it is hoped that in years to come, everyone will awaken to the spirit of giving to those who deserve it. Those who gave all they had in 1917 and 1918:

"Last but not least is the work the legion is doing in the national drive for forest and wild game preservation. The aim of the legion is to make the highways of Wisconsin the most beautiful in America, by planting trees along them. In this way the highways will not only be beautified, but trees will be planted which will insure the needs for the future," Mr. Schneller concluded.

The speaker finished his address by reciting a poem entitled, "The Wearing of the Poppy" composed by himself. Regular business of the club preceded the address.

INJUNCTION IMPEDES DODGE MERGER PLAN

Minority Stockholder Claims Prior Rights on Company Assets

New York (AP)—A temporary injunction, issued in behalf of a minority stockholder of Dodge Brothers, Inc., automobile manufacturers, Tuesday threatened the $250,000,000 merger of that company with the Chrysler corporation. It forbade the transfer of assets pending a hearing.

The injunction was taken out in the name of Col. Calvin H. Goddard, of Richmond, Va., holder of 100 preference shares of Dodge stock, but House, Holthusen and McCloskey, his lawyers, said they represented holders of 5,000 shares, or 1 per cent of the preference stock.

The writ was directed against the two corporations and Dillon, Read and Company, bankers and present owners of the Dodge company.

The complaint alleges that the minority stockholders have a prior claim on Dodge assets to the extent of $105,000,000 under the terms of the company's charter and that the proposed security exchange with Chrysler would unfairly divest them of their property.

CHARGE APPLETON MAN DIDN'T SUPPORT WIFE

B. H. Henry, former Appleton man arrested last Friday at Mattoon, Ill., on a charge of non-support was bound over for a trial following his preliminary hearing in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg Monday afternoon. The date for trial was set and Henry is being held in the county jail because he was unable to furnish $500 bonds. He was arrested following more than two years' search by Sheriff Otto Zuehlke. The warrant for his arrest was issued on July 16, 1925 and he was located only last week in Illinois. The complaint is made by his wife, Catherine Henry of Appleton.

CAL'S WIRE STRINGERS MEET AT CONVENTION

W. L. Louis, E. Eland, W. Gust, J. W. Comstock, E. Wokasch, R. McCormick and W. P. Lange, of the Wisconsin Telephone Co., will attend the Western Electric Installers convention, June 29 and 30 at Green Lake. Delegates to the convention, who will come from Wisconsin and Chicago for the convention are men who installed wires for President Coolidge.

On Saturday, there will be a golf tournament, fishing contests and a ball game. In the evening there will be the convention banquet and election of officers. Sunday will be taken up with speeches and the finals of the golf tournament. The principal speakers will be W. R. Scott, Milwaukee, district superintendent of the Wisconsin Telephone Co., and R. V. Overton, Chicago.

About 80 delegates are expected to attend.

COMMITTEE APPROVES CLASS A APPLICATIONS

Fifteen more applications for class A licenses were approved by the police and license committee at a meeting Monday evening in the city hall. All class A permits expire June 29 together with all other licenses issued by the city. None of the applications for class A permits has been denied.

ADDRESSES LIONS

The aim of the American Legion is not militaristic but to help veterans of the World War, Col. F. J. Schneller, Neenah, commander of state department, American Legion, told members of the Lions club here Monday night.

'BOY REPRESENTATIVE' NOT AFTER JOB AGAIN

Seftenberg Says Private Enterprises Are Taking His Attention

Oshkosh (AP)—Chester D. Seftenberg, Winnebago-co's "boy representative" in the last session of the legislature, today announced that he will not become a candidate for reelection.

While a law student at the state university in Madison, it was possible for me to accept public service as the legislative representative of the city of Oshkosh, his statement said. "I am now undertaking a private business endeavor which precludes my further service as an assemblyman. For this reason I cannot again be a candidate."

The statement said that the young assemblyman, who was one of three or four "boy legislators" in the lower house, would "always retain interest in public affairs and it may be that in the future that I may again be able to accept a call to public service, perhaps in an even wider field."

Taking into account his youth, Mr. Seftenberg said "My highest hope is that those citizens who so generously placed their faith in a youth and cast their ballots for him as their assemblyman have not been disappointed in their choice. My constituents have been considerate and I want them to know that I appreciate it."

The Seftenberg statement was concluded with a word for his proposal of a state budget bureau.

"Many grave problems face the next legislature. Some of the existing laws passed last session must be revised and a few repealed. Contemplating another term, I had attempted to formulate a legislative program. Chief in that program is the establishment of a comprehensive and powerful budget system—one with teeth in it—a move which will put the state government on a sound and scientific business basis, resulting in extensive saving of the tax payers' money. Such a system, properly functioning, would tend to cut the long legislative session in half and would prevent the wasteful fiscal flaccid of the two special sessions. I hope that whoever is selected in my place will take a leading and active part in the fight for budget and administrative reform."

BURGLAR SENT TO STATE PRISON FOR TWO YEARS

Arnold Herning, Seymour, was sentenced to serve from one to two years in state prison at Waupun by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Monday afternoon when he pleaded guilty of burglary. Herning was arrested by Constable J. N. Decker at Seymour and charged with burglarizing a storage company garage there on June 15 and securing a number of automobile accessories. Since it was Herning's second offense Judge Berg had to send him to state prison instead of the state reformatory at Green Bay.

ONAWAY BOYS MEET TO ARRANGE SCHEDULE

More Than Sixty Boys Have Signed Up to Spend Vacation at Camp

Boys who will attend the T. M. C. A. summer camp at Onaway Island will meet at 7:30 Friday evening to make final arrangements for the camp schedule, according to J. W. Pugh, boys' work secretary. Sixty-two boys have signed, and it is expected that the quota of 75 will be filled within the next two weeks.

The following will go to camp: Earl Bauer, Howard Bandy, Jack Fevel, George Packard, Jr., Earl Ek, Paul Miller, Hugh Miller, Jack Schroeder, Lloyd Beach, William Loesselyoung, Lawrence Oosterhouse, Wilson Patterson, Howard Everson, Benjamin Hensel, Alden Hensel, Donald Ralph, Boh, Roland Notling, Robert Merrifield, Walter Wright, Dale Ballinger, James Neiler, Herbert Pearce, Sam Orstein, Donald Trass, Milton Sager, George Smith, James Nolan, John Fischer, Allen Sager, Wesley Schroeder, Gerald Canlin, Robert Rydell, Earl Arnold, Charles Mader, Clarence Mader, Frank Russell, Robert Schwere, Howard Horton, John Horton, William Ogilvie, John Smith, Maurice Smith, John Frank, Howard Hauber, Palmer Harwood, Allen Warner, Thomas Long, Eugene Bleick, Jerome Watts, Clinton Schmidt, Kenneth White, Paul Tuttrup, Robert Shannon, Sylvester Welkes, and Roger Lyons.

Onaway camp leaders will meet at 7:30 Wednesday evening to arrange the camp schedule and to place boys in the various divisions of project work. Leaders will also be assigned to their groups of boys and tents.

PICK COMMITTEE FOR 1929 MEMORIAL DAY

Program Group Meets and Extends Thanks to Those Who Helped This Year

The arrangement committee for the Memorial Day program of 1929 was selected at the meeting of the program committee at the city hall Monday evening. The committee is composed of J. D. Hanchett, Bert Peterman, Richard Sykes, George Dame, Major Fred Hoffman, W. H. Zuehlke and Mrs. Viola Fox.

General plans were discussed and a vote of thanks extended to local riding academies and automobile owners who furnished horses and cars in the parade. The general criticism offered at the meeting was that the program was too long.

The aim of the committee is to enlarge the parade next year and to shorten the exercises at Lawrence Memorial chapel. It also is expected that a nationally known speaker will be secured.

Organizations to take part and to cooperate next year are Grand Army of the Republic, Spanish American war veterans, American Legion, Woman's Relief Corps, Spanish War Veterans, Auxiliary, Legion Auxiliary, Reserve Officers' Daughters of the American Revolution, Salvation Army, labor organizations, fraternal organizations, service clubs, boy scouts, 120th Field Artillery band, Eagles and drum corps, girl scouts, Appleton high school band, and Co. D, 127th Infantry.

REHEARSE SONGS FOR ELKHART SAENGERFEST

Songs to be sung at the annual Eastern Wisconsin Saengerfest at Elkhart Lake, July 14 and 15 will be practiced at the regular rehearsal of the Appleton Mannerchor on Thursday evening, according to Otto Schaefer, president.

It is expected that 50 members of the local choir will attend the Saengerfest. A special bus is to be chartered to transport the singers, according to Mr. Schaefer.

COSTUMES ARRIVE FOR BOY SCOUT PAGEANT

Costumes for the campfire pageant to be presented at the dedication of the Fox river valley boy scout camp at Lake Winnebago on Sunday, July 8, have been received at the executive office. They will be held over until the dedication, according to M. G. Clark, valley scout executive.

LETTER GOLF

WOOD YOU DO THIS? As strokes get CHIPS off TREES and letter golf strokes do the same thing. Just six strokes are required, according to the solution, which you may be able to beat on page 2.

T	R	E	E	S
C	H	I	P	S

THE RULES

- 1.—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.
- 2.—You can change only one letter at a time.
- 3.—You must have a complete word of common usage, for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.
- 4.—The order of letters cannot be changed.

Gods Of Convention Bow To Wishes Of Radio Fans

(By the Associated Press)

The Democratic chieftains who decided on night sessions for the national convention, already are hearing from evening newspapers back home, but they place all the blame on the evolution of the radio.

By holding short sessions in midday, when many of the nation's millions are at home for noon luncheons they assert that they will reach the voters over the broadcasting chain, and then again, with night sessions they believe literally millions will listen to the lambasting of the Republican party.

Both Kansas City and Houston have turned up prospective big time salesmen in their newsboys. While a fire was being attended to in one of the big hotels in the Republican convention city, and even before the engines had arrived, a newsie started yelling:

"Paper, just out, all about the big fire."

This only got a laugh from the wise ones at the scene, but the kid on the corner of the Rice hotel in Houston Monday night had better luck when he started the cry:

"Senator Hefflin turns to Al Smith."

He soon sold out.

"You can't go wrong on my initials—they are as simple as A B C," says Arthur B. Clark, the brown headed delegate from Altoona, Pa.

"Here's one for the book," and the information clerk tossed a telegram across the desk.

"When does the Democratic convention open?" It read. It came from Pittsburgh.

Just inside the Rice is a table with a diagram of seats spread. Two men approached.

"Please, Miss, we want two good seats down front."

Money changed hands and the men pocketed two tickets.

"Who said it was a hard job getting convention tickets," one said.

"Convention seats," piped the young woman. "You've bought tickets to the wrestling match."

A national committeewoman by proxy, is being mentioned as the probable choice of the Reed forces to second the nomination of the Missourian. Mrs. Antoinette Fong, New Mexico's tiny blond representative, who is replacing Mrs. Jennie Markie Kirby on the committee, is regarded as the favorite.

ISSUE WARRANT FOR MAN WHO TOOK CAR

A warrant for the arrest of John Collman, formerly employed as a laborer on the new freight depot and living at 818 W. Spencerst, charged with stealing an Essex coach from the W. H. Dean auto livery last Thursday, was issued by the district attorney's office Tuesday. Collman is said to have rented the car Thursday and neither he nor the car has been seen since. The car is painted blue and bears Wisconsin license C175-015.

APPLETON PLANES AT DEDICATION OF FIELD

Local Organization Is Responsible for Building of Port at Menominee, Mich.

Two airplanes belonging to the North American Airways company of this city, the 'Pride of Appleton' and a recently acquired training ship, will take part in the dedication of the new airport at Menominee, Mich., Friday. Both planes will fly to the Michigan city early this week to be on hand for the event.

Dedication of the field is being held in conjunction with a meeting of Knights of Pythias from Wisconsin and Upper Michigan. Governors of both states will be on hand for the ceremony and a dozen army planes from Selfridge field will furnish entertainment for the visitors.

The Appleton airplanes will be the center of attraction, however, as it was through the efforts of the local company that the city and county were induced to appropriate funds for building the air passenger line from Menominee to Chicago and the promise that such a line would be operated prompted the erection of the airport.

CHAMBERLAIN CAN'T COME TO AIR MEET

Clarence Chamberlain, aviator who gained fame by his flight from New York to Germany last year, will be unable to attend the air meet and airport dedication here in August, according to word received by the chamber of commerce. It was hoped to have Chamberlain and other notables here for the event but reports have indicated that most of them are engaged for the season.

IF YOUR PILLOWS ARE MISSING, VISIT Y. M. C. A.

Ten pillows, orphans of the Christian Endeavor convention, here last week, remain unclaimed at the Y. M. C. A., according to convention officers and may be obtained by calling at the association building or getting in touch with officers. The pillows were tagged with the name of donors but the tags were lost in the shuffle and until someone calls for them, there is no way to check back. The pillows were included in the bedding donated to officers of the convention by local residents. Many delegates were housed at Lawrence college dormitories and bedding for them had to be supplied from local homes. A meeting of convention officers and chairman of standing committees is contemplated to talk over post-convention problems. The date of the meeting will be announced soon.

PINHEAD IS 3,000 TIMES AS LARGE AS SCIENTISTS' SUBJECT

Structure and Function of Tiny Eyes Being Undertaken by Zoologist

Baltimore, Md.—(AP)—The structure and function of eyes so small that 3,000 would not fill the space occupied by a pinhead have been ascertained after years of study by Dr. S. O. Mast, professor of zoology at the Johns Hopkins university.

They are the eyes of the Volvox, a minute greenish organism which flourishes near the surface of still water and is of particular interest to science as one of the simplest forms of life. Each cell in a Volvox, numbering from 200 to 2,000, is equipped with one of them ranging from .001 to .003 millimeters in diameter and working independently toward a common objective.

The Volvox has never been definitely classified in either the vegetable or the animal kingdom. Its green coloring and method of obtaining food by synthesizing starch and sugar from water, carbon dioxide and light, are plant characteristics, but its behavior and movement are those of animals.

It is described by Dr. Mast as being "beautifully symmetrical" in form. The cells, loosely connected with a network of living fibers, are grouped around the surface of a slightly elongated sphere of gelatinous material about one millimeter in diameter. The organism as a whole has a definite anterior and posterior end, but each cell acts as a unit having virtually all of the functions of the group, this form of life being so simple that specialization of different parts has not developed.

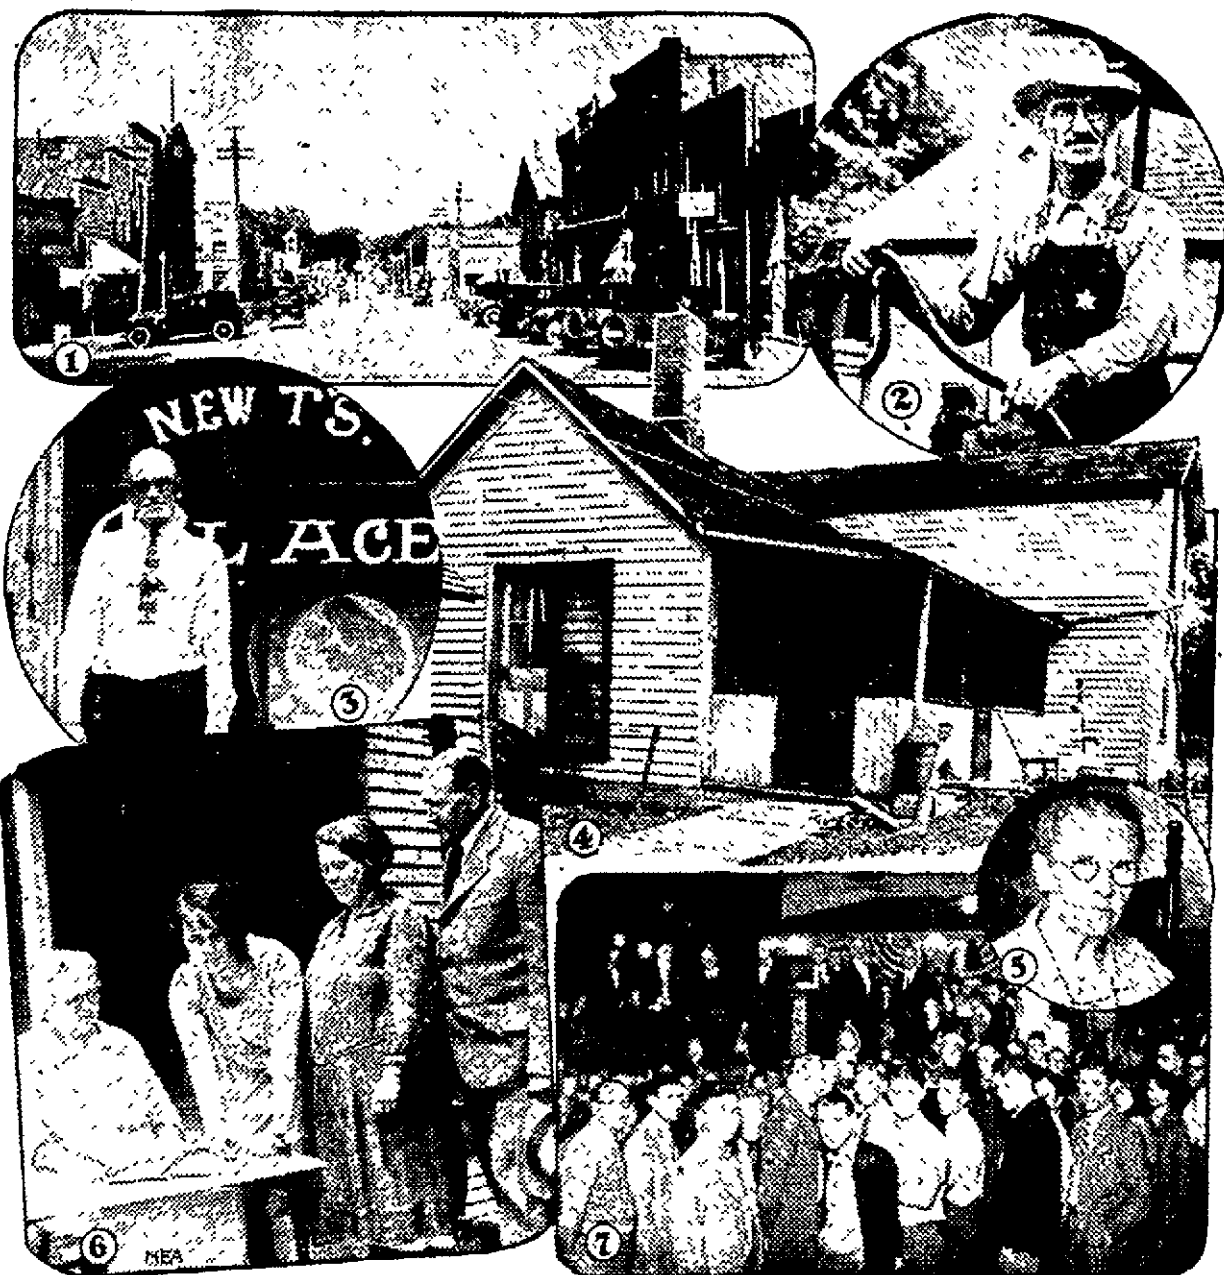

About one-thirtieth of each cell is occupied by the eye, which is not equipped to detect images as human eyes do, but serves for the focusing and segregating of the light rays that are so vital to the colony. The eyes apparently are connected very closely with the operation of the two long, hair-like projections which extend from each cell and, moving in unison, propel the organism toward or away from the source of light and at the same time cause it to roll over and over on its longitudinal axis.

By applying the principles of reflection and refraction of light and utilizing optical instruments which magnified them 1,500 to 2,000 times, Dr. Mast has been able to ascertain the shape and composition of these eyes. Directing sunlight into them from different angles and studying the reflected rays and spots of color, he has established that they consist of a cup-shaped pigmented structure, with a lens at the mouth of the cup and photosensitive substance within it.

4,200 CHILDREN USE PLAYGROUNDS IN WEEK

Approximately 4,200 children and adults used the five supervised playgrounds here last week, according to a report of A. C. Dugan, city play director. The first and third ward grounds led with approximately 1,200 using each grounds during the week.

West Branch, Iowa, Folks Share Fame With Presidential Nominee

Fame has come swiftly to the little town of West Branch, Ia., where Herbert Hoover, Republican candidate for president, was born. Here are scenes and persons that recall the boyhood years of the youth who "made good." 1—Main street. 2—J. W. Haylett, the police force of West Branch, standing at the pump at Hoover's old home. 3—Next Butler, boyhood chum of Hoover's who defeated him in a youthful fist fight, is a Democrat, but will not vote that way this fall. 4—The birthplace, with the very room in which Hoover was born beyond the door to the left. 5—Mrs. J. K. HOHENZOLLERN CASTLE FALLING INTO DECAY

Homburg, Germany — Schloss Friedrichshof, the beautiful castle built by and for Empress Victoria, wife of Emperor Frederick and mother of the deposed former Kaiser, is slowly decaying. Her daughter, the grand duchess of Hesse, who inherited this work of art, is unable to meet the cost of upkeep.

The castle was built in accordance with the personal wishes of the empress, a daughter of Queen Victoria of England. She insisted upon taking stone from the quarries of the Tannus mountains, though warned that this stone contained saltpeter. The interior was furnished with costly art treasures.

In the course of time it developed from "sweating out" saltpeter only if the rooms were kept quite warm. The grand duchess of Hesse and her husband find that this takes more cost than they can afford, and have consequently taken up their residence in the adjacent smaller palace which formerly served as the home of the empress's master of ceremonies.

PROPOSE ORDINANCE TO BAN COAL SMOKE

A committee is to be appointed to propose a smoke ordinance for the city of Appleton, according to Kenneth Corbett, secretary of the chamber of commerce.

The proposal was advanced to the chamber by Attorney A. H. Krugmeier who also submitted a copy of an ordinance recently adopted by the city of Milwaukee.

The ordinance would prohibit the use of coal which damages property, according to Mr. Krugmeier.

HAVE ANSWER FOR QUERIES ON PAPER

Chamber of Commerce to Print Prize Winning Essay for Distribution

A story, How Paper is Made, written several years ago by Herbert Gauker, Rural Route 6, Appleton, is to be used by the chamber of commerce to answer questions on that subject sent in by school children from all parts of the country.

Knowing that this is the center of the paper making industry, the students write to the chamber wanting to know the various process of making the commodity and up to this time the letters have been turned over to one of the mills for reply.

Gauker's story won first prize in a contest and it will be printed in its entirety and a copy sent to all who send questions.

The story recounts every process gone through and explains in detail the development of machinery for manufacture from the time the ancient Egyptians pulled stalks of weeds from the river beds and used them to write on after being dried.

TEAR OUT SECTION OF DAM AT DEPERE

One section of the old dam at De Pere has been removed and concrete for the first section of the new sluiceway is to be poured Saturday, according to A. F. Everett, government engineer, who says work is progressing rapidly and half of the old dam is to be removed by next week. It is expected that the new dam will be completed by the end of next year, according to Mr. Everett.

Reporter Finds Edna Erred About Drummers

Was it Edna Ferber who depicted the drummer as a fat fellow who 'sat in the window of the hotel lobby reading love story magazines? Either Edna was all wrong or drummers have changed since her day.

According to the girl who sells magazines, chairs and the rest of it in a local hotel lobby, drummers demand substantial reading matter like "Forum," "American Mercury," or "Scentimen."

In their light moments they ask for "Sea Stories," "Adventure Stories," or "True Detective Stories." It is very seldom, said the clerk, that a man will ask for "True Story" or "True Romances."

Love story magazines are in demand among the women. Vaudeville actresses who spend the weekend at the hotel usually buy "True Story," or "True Romances." Their husbands ask for "Variety," or the adventure magazines. Tourists buy movie magazines, "Cosmopolitan," and post cards. "Red Book" and "Cosmopolitan" are two of the most popular magazines. "Liberty," "Colliers," and "Saturday Evening Post," are big sellers with men at the hotel. Colliers only recently has jumped to a popularity nearly equal the two other five cent periodicals.

Although the hotel gets the local trade, few local women, according to the clerk have the temerity to buy cigarettes. Actresses buy mostly cigarettes and magazines.

Many boxes of candy are sold to the men who buy them for absent wives, daughters or sweethearts.

There is no lack of exercise for a lonely man in a hotel lobby. A miniature golfing machine enables him to play a synthetic game, to tee off, and drive, all for a nickel inserted in a slot.

GRASS GROWS FAST ON MUNICIPAL GOLF COURSE

Appleton's municipal golf course will be ready to play on in about sixty days, according to Peter Flammann, caretaker of the course. Recent rains have made the grass grow extra fast and it will be ready for mowing the early part of next week.

All needed equipment for the upkeep of the course has been made by Mr. Flammann, including a green dresser which he believes is the only one existing. The tool shed and equipment barn will be started next week. The clubhouse will not be erected till the latter part of the summer.

AMUNDSON ASSISTS IN ACTIVITIES AT 4-H CLUB OUTING

County Agent Will Have Charge on One of Four Days at Sunset Lake

Robert Amundson, Outagamie-co agricultural agent will have charge of a day's activity at the district 4-H club camp at Sunset lake, Portage-co, beginning June 26 and lasting four days. Sunset Lake is about 20 miles northwest of New London, a few miles from Amherst Junction.

The camp opened with registration and assignment to groups on Tuesday, June 26 on Wednesday morning, girls will be in charge of two women instructors who will show them how to make baskets and test materials. Boys will be shown how to make bird houses and hangers and a recreational period of an hour will conclude the morning's activity.

Club and rat killing demonstration will occupy part of the afternoon's work with another hour and a half of recreation. There also will be a recreational period in the evening and at 9:45 the first day's work will be over.

Health talks and examinations will take part of the morning of the Thursday, June 28. Cooking, sewing and other home economic problems will be taken up by girls during the latter part of the morning while, in the afternoon, boys will go on a field trip and discuss various club projects.

Girls will continue their home economic work during the late afternoon and in the evening, there will be a discussion and recreational period. The Langlade-co nurse, who will attend the camp, will give a first aid demonstration during the evening.

The last day of the camp, members of the various clubs will join in a general discussion of all projects which might be undertaken by clubs. During the afternoon the boys will go on a field trip and girls will continue home economic problems with a style slow and fair. Stunts put on by the different groups will be the big feature of Friday evening's recreational program and Saturday morning the club members will break camp and return to their homes.

DENY REQUEST FOR CALVERT REHEARING

Appleton Woman Loses Again in Attempt to Recover Damages from City

Alfred C. Bosser, city attorney, has been advised by the state supreme court that the petition for a rehearing of the case of Mrs. Lucinda N. Calvert, Appleton, against the city of Appleton, to recover damages for injuries suffered when she fell over a pipe in front of the Pettibone-Peabody company, has been denied. The decision was one of several handed down by the court Monday afternoon but no information on the case was received here until Saturday.

When the case was tried in circuit court here, Judge Edgar V. Werner awarded Mrs. Calvert damages. Mr. Bosser then took an appeal to the supreme court which reversed Judge Werner's opinion. Attorneys for Mrs. Calvert then asked for the rehearing.

URGE CAUTERIZATION IN CASE OF DOG BITE

Madison — (UP) — A warning that wounds made by the bite of dogs suspected of rabies should be promptly cauterized, is made by the state board of health.

"Nitric acid should be carefully applied to the wound, followed by the tincture treatment as soon as a definite diagnosis of rabies is made. In all doubtful cases, the anti-rabic treatment should be administered."

The board also requests that the dogs be not killed immediately. "Animals suspected of having rabies should be confined, and not killed, because a true diagnosis is made by the finding of 'negri bodies' in the brain. It requires several days for these bodies to form in the dog's brain. They appear late in the disease, and for this reason the animal should be confined from ten to fifteen days or until a positive diagnosis can be made. When the definite symptoms appear, the dog should be killed without inflicting the head, and the head sent to the state laboratory in Madison for a confirmation of diagnosis."

Report of the biting of four children in Langlade-co by a dog which showed typical symptoms of rabies was made to the board this week.

ASK POLICE TO WATCH FOR BAD CHECK ARTIST

Appleton garage owners have been warned not to cash checks for Leon W. Frehling, who claims to be a representative of the Chicago Flexible Shaft company. Appleton police were informed by the protective department of the Wisconsin Bankers' association to watch for this man and arrest him as he is wanted for passing worthless checks at Kilbourn and it is thought that he planned to work other Wisconsin towns. He is about 35 years old, five feet, 11 inches tall, weighs 140 pounds and has dark brown hair. He drives a Nash sedan with an Illinois license.

MAKE "FILLING STATION" FOR POCKET LIGHTERS

A miniature "filling station" for pocket cigar lighters has been invented by two Appleton men, Winton Lansing and Raymond Van Schuyndel, and is being manufactured and marketed by them.

The tiny "station" permits the flow of enough lighter fluid to fill the reservoir when a nickel or penny is inserted. It is made of aluminum, finished in a rich Duco, has a plate glass container with bronze fittings and is equipped with a felt base so it will not mar counters.

BIRTHS IN 1927 OUTNUMBER DEATHS

State Report Shows That but Approximately Half as Many Died as Were Born

Madison—(AP)—Wisconsin births in 1927, as registered with the federal bureau of vital statistics, were 57,323. Deaths totalling only 29,519 in the same period, according to the figures received here from Washington.

Deaths of babies under one year of age were 3,394. The birth rate per 1,000 estimated population was 19.6 in 1927, compared with 19.3 in 1926 and the death rate on the same basis was 10.1 for '27 and 10.5 for '26.

Here are the figures secured by the federal government from some of Wisconsin's larger cities. The column is births in 1927 and second is deaths, all ages.

BANKERS TOLD ABOUT PROGRESS OF NATION

America Rapidly Acquiring Poise in Industry, St. Louis Man Says

Milwaukee—(AP)—America is rapidly acquiring poise in industry, commerce, culture and finance, John C. Lonsdale, St. Louis, told the Wisconsin Bankers association here today. Mr. Lonsdale is second vice-president of the American Bankers association, and president of the National Bank of Commerce, St. Louis.

He described poise as "a polish of the ages—a knowledge, a power, a staidness that men and nations acquire by adversity."

The haphazard methods of making and selling, characteristic of the nation's early transition from a purely agricultural to an industrial nation, are disappearing.

"The great barrier of understanding and contact—distance—has been almost eliminated by the use of air for travel and communication. Even in our lifetime, by a combination of television and radio, meetings or boards of directors, with the participants in the uttermost corners of the world, can be accomplished as quickly and as effectively as we now confer here.

"We know today where we used to guess; we know business facts, financial methods more than theories; commercial activity is being concentrated more and more in larger units, chain stores and huge corporations, because these units can best assemble the brains and the experience—the poise, again—of the business world, and in turn fathom the future. America consequently starts the world with her leaps and bounds of progress in the acquisition of national wealth."

The shirt-sleeve executive of the '90's, who toiled to found his millions of the present day, now no longer feels the need for perpetual pre-occupation with material existence, Mr. Lonsdale said.

"A generation or so ago a big industry enabled a man to be showily impressive. A millionaire could have a big home and servants, a yacht, a stable full of fast horses, and he could travel with his seasons. Wherever he went, he made a deep impression. Today, however, spending is no longer a career; we are not the dollar-chasing nation some of our world-neighbors would picture us.

"We find the well-to-do families of today acquiring almost priceless treasures in the way of art objects, making valuable contributions to museums, and endowing colleges, that tomorrow's national poise may be securely grounded."

PHEASANT EGGS DUE TO BE HATCHED SOON

Ring-necked and Mongolian pheasant eggs planted in the town of Greenville and Dale are expected to hatch soon, according to officers of Outagamie-co Fish and Game Protective association. The eggs were set several weeks ago and are part of the association's work of planting game throughout the county.

Officers also have announced that a bass pond will be established in the county but are not divulging its location. The pond will take up about two acres. Large mouth bass from nearby rivers will be placed in the pond but they will not spawn until next year. Officers of the association are keeping the location of the pond secret to keep curiosity seekers away.

HALF OF TAXPAYERS HAVE PAID 1928 INCOME TAXES

Approximately half the income taxpayers of Outagamie-co have paid their 1928 income taxes according to Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer. Miss Ziegenhagen said she did not know how much money had been collected.

All income taxes must be paid on or before July 1, according to the county treasurer, or they will be subject to penalties and taxes as provided by state law. The penalty is 2 per cent of the total tax and the interest is 1 per cent a month until the tax is paid.

Taxes may be paid by checks mailed to Miss Ziegenhagen at the county court house or they can be paid in cash by calling at Miss Ziegenhagen's office.

American Woman Only Vice Consul In Europe

Amsterdam—(AP)—Pattie Hockaday Field of Denver, Colo., the only American woman vice consul in Europe, is a familiar figure to every policeman in Amsterdam. She is fond both of horseback riding and driving a motor car, and her smile makes even the sternest of traffic cops relent and let her cross a busy corner when she is in a hurry.

Miss Field has been in Holland as vice consul since November, 1925. This is her first post in the foreign service, and she likes every minute of it.

"I owe it to the encouragement of my mother that I made the grade," she says. "When I came up for the consular examinations for the first time in 1924, I was deficient in French, as I had had no opportunity to speak it."

"Mother then agreed to take me to the Ecole des Sciences Politiques at Paris, where I acquired the necessary French. Returning to the United States, I passed the examination in January, 1925, and in April entered the service in the state department at Washington. After six months of practical work there I was assigned to the Netherlands."

Miss Field has not only a multitude of odds and ends to do—inidentally, she is treasurer of the consular general at Amsterdam—but she finds time to specialize on commercial reports, chiefly of a statistical nature.

Miss Field lives at the Women's club of Amsterdam, speaks Dutch, English, French and German.

There is only one other woman in the United States consular service (not counting, of course, clerks and stenographers)—Miss Frances E. Willis of Redlands, Cal. She is serving in Chile.

But Alan ordered the boy to take them back. By this time, Alan had fairly exhausted his anger, and tried to be himself. But I was wild. I hate scenes and I hate all this possessive stuff. I may be Alan's wife, but I am not his chattel. I don't know just what sort of an evening we might have had if Julia had not called up and wanted to come over—which she did. She is a genius—and the one relative I can think of I would have wanted to see, with the exception of you. She brought the warring factions together.

Devotedly.

CANDLESTICKS AND ELECTRIC LIGHTS PART

BY JULIA BLANSHARD

New York—Candlesticks and electric lights have come to the parting of the ways. Time was when they emanated each other, with wall lights of electricity approximating the appearance of lighted candles. And candleabra looked as much as possible like electric chandeliers.

Now, modernistic electric fixtures look to the future for their inspiration, or at least press into service contemporary things. Candles, on the other hand, delve back into the middle ages, and the loveliest of their holders copy mediaeval monastic articles.

Much has been written about modern interior decorating. Perhaps the loveliest of modern things are the electric lights. When it comes to wall fixtures, a new art expression has been found. Pluted glass, wrought iron, parchment, aluminum, silk and many other media work out the same motif that adorns a room. When a button is pressed, the room is flooded with indirect light.

But there are many moderns who cannot go to the expense of being 100 per cent what they believe. So there are new lamps in quantities to tempt these into adding a few contemporary touches to their otherwise staid homes.

Some are bizarre. Others are captivating. All are original. And every single one is stimulating. These modernistic lamps glorify the mundane in their designs. They take nautica, cubes of sugar, measuring spoons, thimble and so on and work out intricate designs in color for their shades.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST—Orange juice, cereal, cream, poached eggs, crisp whole wheat toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Tripe roll, head lettuce, bran rolls, berries with cream, milk, tea.

DINNER—Broiled salmon with lemon butter sauce, tomato and cucumber salad, cherry custard, milk, coffee.

Green peas and carrots as well as potatoes are served with the fish. The salmon is cut in slices. The vegetables are cooked separately and served as a border for the fish and the sauce is poured over the whole.

TRIPE ROLL
One pound tripe, 3 potatoes, 2 teaspoons minced onion, 1 cup soft bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons minced green pepper, 3 slices bacon, 1/2 teaspoon pepper.

Wash tripe through three waters. Drain and cool. In the meantime, boil, mash and season potatoes. Combine with onion, pepper, crumbs and green pepper. Lay tripe flat on a board and spread with potato mixture. Roll firmly and tie the securely with string. Roll in flour, brush over with salad oil and place on a rack in a roaster. Cover top with bacon slices and bake for an hour in hot oven.

When ready to serve remove string and pour over a well seasoned hot tomato sauce. Cut in slices for serving.

PARENTS AMAZED AT OWN OFFSPRING

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

TWO mothers sat side by side at a high school commencement. One had a son and one had a daughter on the program. Each was equally nervous when the time came for her own particular child to step out before the footlights and declaim to a mature and critical audience.

The women were strangers, but by that peculiar intuition known only to mothers, they soon sensed their natural tie and were whispering away for dear life before the exercise were half over.

"I'm so relieved that Katherine got through all right," breathed one mother thankfully. "This is the first time I've heard a word of her speech. I don't know when she wrote it, she's been so busy with other things. I've been very nervous about it."

The other mother's eyes grew round. "That's exactly what William did," she declared. "And I have been worrying too I never dreamed anyone else would be so casual about a commencement speech. Why when I was a girl—"

Their eyes met, and slowly they smiled. "It's the new way, I guess," said the first. "I thought both of them were wonderful."

"So did I," said the other. "I guess you and I supplied the nerves for all of us."

What could be more typical of the sureness and capability of modern youth, and the difference between the old way and the new? Commencement in the past meant a family affair, if one of the sons or daughters was valedictorian, salutatorian, or something equally nerve-racking.

Of course it is hard for a mother to understand that her baby that she started to school twelve short years ago now is a man or woman grown, but still harder to understand that since her day the character of those twelve years has changed.

The modern parent, it believe, is passing the indignation stage. Amusement is taking its place—amusement and pride. And that is as it should be.

KING GIVES MEDAL TO AMERICAN GIRL

A portrait of Frances Clyne, by Beltran-Masses.

NEA Service Writer
New York—Frances Clyne, New York couturier, has been decorated by the King of Spain with the Spanish Medal of Homage.

In this presentation lies a tale that proves once more than all creative art is kin.

For Miss Clyne—herself an artist in one field, costume—received the medal in recognition of the part she played in introducing into America an artist, in another field—Frederico Beltran-Masses, Spain's foremost painter.

Several years ago Miss Clyne came upon some of Beltran-Masses' pictures in his native Spain. Their distinctive beauty, depth and understanding fascinated her. Here, she thought, was a genius whom America would appreciate.

HELD BY PREMONITION
So she sought out the artist, suggesting that he visit America. She met the most unexpected and in this modern age, the most unusual obstacle. His mother—a gentle, unworldly woman who lived only for her son—refused to sanction the trip because she had a premonition that the ocean voyage would cost him his life.

During the next few years, Senor Beltran-Masses remained in Europe, his gorgeous interpretations for bewitching Spanish señoritas and seductive Spanish nights and Spanish scenes gaining devotees in every European country.

Twice yearly Miss Clyne sought out his mother in Spain, trying to overcome her objections to her son's coming to America. Finally, Senora Beltran-Masses consented. Miss Clyne arranged his whole trip, introduced him to influential persons here and arranged showings of his pictures. He was an instant success, much sought after for portraits. He painted some of the most interesting men and beautiful women in America, including many socially prominent persons and the most famous motion picture stars.

Upon his return to Spain last year he was welcomed with acclaim by King Alfonso XIII. For by Spain a great artist becomes the property of the country and his achievement reflects glory on the ruler.

Senor Beltran-Masses, however, with due appreciation, gave credit for his American success to Miss Clyne's tireless effort. And so the Spanish Medal of Homage, which was presented her during a trip from which she has just returned, represents a king's appreciation of what an American woman did for his country's art.

A Delicious New Jam You Can Make from STRAWBERRIES and PINEAPPLE in 15 minutes

This recipe for Mixed Pineapple and Strawberry Jam is very popular. No finer blend of flavors can be imagined than that of the delicately luscious strawberry with the refreshing tartness of ripe, juicy pineapple. Many women like this recipe, too, for its economy, since the pineapple makes your strawberries go so much further.

Crush to a fine pulp about 1 quart ripe berries. Put pineapple (fresh or canned) through food chopper, or chop very fine. Measure 2 level cups of each fruit into large kettle. In case of slight shortage of one fruit, use enough of the other fruit to make 4 cups total. Add 7 level cups (3 lbs.) sugar and mix well. Use hottest fire and stir constantly before and while boiling. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard for 1 minute. Remove from fire and stir in 1/2 cup Certo. Skim, pour quickly, and cover hot jam at once with hot paraffin wax.

Certo is the natural jellifying substance of straw, refined and bottled so that you may use it with all fruits to get a quick, perfect "set" without long boiling.

With the delicately flavored pineapple and strawberry the advantages of the Certo method are especially noticeable. For Certo not only makes these difficult fruits so perfectly every time, but the short boil, possible only with Certo, prevents the loss of fresh flavor and color which occurs during long boiling.

"Certo way the best way" says eminent cooking expert

Miss Alice Bradley, Principal, Miss Farmer's School of Cookery and Cooking Editor, Woman's Home Companion, says: "One trial will convince you that the best way to make jams and jellies is 'The Certo Way.'"

Your grocer has Certo. A book of simple, tested recipes comes under the label of each bottle.

Serve them in delicious combinations

Really, it's amazing the number of dainty combinations you can make with our bottled carbonated beverages. Not only sparkling, cool punches, and other drinks with that pungent tangy taste, but perfectly wonderful salads and frozen desserts as well. It's quite the thing now-a-days to order bottled carbonated beverages by the case, just as regularly as you buy groceries. Keep a few bottles always on ice.

Young Folks Of Church Plan Picnic

A PICNIC on July 15 will entertain members of the Young People's society of First English Lutheran church according to arrangements made at a meeting of the society Monday night at the church. The picnic in all probability will be held at High Cliff or Oshkosh. It will take the place of the regular meeting in July.

A topic which will be discussed at the state convention of the Lutheran League at Milwaukee August 25 and 26 was presented for discussion Monday night by Floyd Foor. Why Do Some Leagues Fail after a Period of Existence? Experiences of the topic were discussed by Lohar Bietz, Anton Gauerke and Miss Eva Moss-holder.

Anton Gauerke, president of the society, presided at the meeting which was followed by a social hour. Rudolph Gauerke was in charge of the social arrangements and he was assisted with the games and refreshments by Mrs. Floyd Foor and Miss Eva Moss-holder.

Twelve members of the society will attend the Lutheran Vacation camp at Long Lake, Ill., from August 22 to 30. They are Charles Heusermann, Rudolph Gauerke, Martin Gauerke, Vernon Kilpstein, Helen Block Wilma Weidman, Verona Kilpstein, Mildred Albrecht, Helen Fumal, Lella Radtke, Anton Gauerke and Mrs. Floyd Foor.

WEATHER DELAYS WOMEN GOLFERS

Wet grounds and cool weather for the second time this season prevented the usual Monday golf play for women of the Riverview Country club. The golfing round for the club cup will be played next Monday. The round also will qualify for Classes A, B, and C cups.

An urgent and cordial invitation to the Riverview women to attend an invitation tournament Thursday at the Lakeside Country club, Manitowish, has been received. Mrs. Earl F. Miller, chairman of the women's sports, will take reservations of members who will attend the tournament, until Wednesday noon. The players will tee off at 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

PARTIES

Mrs. Edward Witt and Mrs. Elmer Dessen entertained at a miscellaneous shower Saturday evening at Mrs. Dessen's home in honor of Miss Lavinia Popp who will be married soon to Roy Destein. Dice and cards were played and prizes were won by Mrs. Otto Kasten, A. Hoerning, Mrs. Arthur Kollath at schafkopf, and Miss Tavern Popp, Mrs. Henry Wood, and Mrs. A. Doepfer at dice. Guests were Mr. Kollath, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Boldt, Miss Fern Hawkes, and Miss Lucille Mathes. Miss Popp was guest of honor at a party given by Mrs. August Deusch on June 16.

Mrs. Dewey Boyce, 503 W. Spring-st., entertained a number of friends Monday afternoon, the occasion being her birthday anniversary. Cards and dice were played and prizes were won by Mrs. Bernard Boyce, Otis Boyce and Miss Carrie Kopack. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Van Ryzin, Mrs. Bernard Boyce, Miss Ellen McCarthy, Edward Hyde of Erling, Miss Carrie Kopack and Miss Esther Brusewitz.

Miss Fern McGregor entertained a group of friends at a weekend party at her cottage at White Lake last week end. Miss Stella Weideman, a student at St. Luke hospital, Chicago, was the guest of honor. Swimming, boating and fishing amused the guests. Mrs. John M. Hart of Kaukauna chaperoned the party.

Stella, Vanden Heuvel entertained five couples at a 7 o'clock dinner in the Blue Room of the Conway hotel Saturday evening.

PICNICS

The county department of Appleton Womans Club will hold a picnic at Waverly Beach Thursday. A noon dinner will be served. Mrs. Henry Hesteker is chairman of arrangements.

USE FLY-TOX

END MOSQUITO TORMENT In a few minutes' time the entire home can be freed of mosquitoes. With an improved FLY-TOX Hand Sprayer, spray FLY-TOX directly toward the ceiling, also on the draperies, in the closets and on the screens. It will not leave a stain on the most delicate of wallpapers, hangings or fabrics. Spray upwards until all parts of the room are filled with the finely atomized spray. Within a few minutes all the mosquitoes in the room will be down on the screens, or on the windows and doors are open or closed. In addition to being harmless, FLY-TOX is fragrant, is absolutely harmless to people but sure death to all household insects. Every bottle guaranteed.

SAYS WARNING LIGHT HAS DESIRED EFFECT

The recently installed warning signal near the intersection of Prospect-ave and Cherry-st is having the desired effect of causing motorists to slow down at the crossing, according to Walter Gmeiner, chairman of the city council street and bridge committee.

Motorists are not required to stop at the intersection and the speed with which some of them crossed Prospect-ave when going north on Cherry-st was enough to endanger other drivers, he said. A flashing beam of amber light, focused directly into the drivers' eyes, calls his attention to the warning.

MAKE ROOM AT FIRE HOUSE FOR STEAM PUMP

Remodeling of the interior of the Appleton Fire department was started this week to provide storage space for the old steam pumping engine. The partition between the present hose storage room and the department proper is being removed and the space will be utilized to house the pump. The extra hose will be stored in the basement, according to Fire Chief George R. McGillan. The firemen are doing the work and it is expected that they will finish this week.

GUARDS PREPARE FOR WAUPACA CELEBRATION

Although wet grounds at Jones park prevented outdoor maneuvers and guard mount for members of Co. D, 127th Infantry, Wisconsin National Guard, four squads of the unit went through the exercise at the armory Monday evening as part of the regular drill. The maneuver was preparatory to services which will be held at the Wisconsin Veterans Home at Waupaca, Sunday, July 1. The 12th field artillery band will take part in the maneuvers at the veterans' home with several other guard units from the central part of the state.

KAUKAUNA-LITTLE CHUTE-KIMBERLY

NEARBY
TOWNSLOAN ASSOCIATION
REPORTS BIG PROFIT

Will Be Able to Pay About 3 Per Cent Semi-annual Dividend to Stockholders

Kaukauna—Total earnings of the Kaukauna Building and Loan association were $14,175.07 in the first half of 1928 according to the financial report presented at the semi-annual meeting of the directors at the offices of the Farmers and Merchants bank here Monday night.

The total expenses were $3,852.36 leaving a net earning of $10,322.71. The audit committee's report revealed that the semi-annual dividend would be almost 3 per cent. Total resources of the company are $464,000, the financial report showed.

An interesting feature of the financial report was the statement showing that the fund of $10,000, which had been built up from the earnings to meet any losses the association might suffer, sums are paid in this fund semi-annually from the net earnings.

The eighty-third series of stock was ordered by the directors. The association was started in 1911 and is 43 years old.

All officers were re-elected as follows: C. E. Raught, president; J. B. Delbridge, vice president; H. S. Cooke, treasurer; Hugo Wiefenbach, secretary; directors, H. S. Cooke, Edward Zekind and Joseph J. Jansen.

Miss Adala Thelen of Kaukauna called on friends here Saturday.

Much of the nervousness in older children can be traced to the over-stimulation during infancy caused by regarding him as a sort of animated toy for the amusement of parents, relatives and friends. Baby may be played with, but not for more than a quarter of an hour to an hour daily. Beyond that, being handled, tickled, caused to laugh or even scream, will sometimes result in vomiting, and invariably causes irritability, crying or sleeplessness.

Restlessness, crying and sleeplessness from this cause can easily be avoided by treating baby with more consideration, but when you just can't see what is making baby restless or upset, bet you get him to sleep in a drop of pure, harmless Castoria. It's amazing to see how quickly it calms baby's nerves and soothes him to sleep; yet it contains no drugs or opiates. It is purely vegetable—the recipe is on the wrapper. Leading physicians prescribe for colic, cholera, diarrhea, constipation, gas on stomach and bowels, fever, irritability, loss of sleep and all other "upsets" of babyhood. Over 25 million bottles used a year shows its overwhelming popularity.

With each bottle of Castoria, you get a book on Motherhood, worth its weight in gold. Look for "Castoria" Fletcher's signature on the package so you'll get genuine Castoria. There are many imitations.

RELIEF CORPS AT CHILTON HAS ANNUAL MEMORIAL SERVICE

Graves of Deceased Members Decorated With Flowers as Part of Ritual

Special to Post-Crescent
Chilton—The annual memorial service of the Woman's Relief Corps was held at the Eagles' Hall on Wednesday the principal address being given by the Rev. William Arpke. After the service the graves of the deceased members were decorated with flowers. On Monday night the members of New Holstein Chapter Eastern Star were the guests of the local chapter, and witnessed initiatory work. Following the meeting a supper was served.

Fred Kiesner of Milwaukee has purchased the Lindemuth building on E. Main-st and is remodeling it. When completed the building will be used as a restaurant.

The recent survey conducted by engineer of the Wisconsin Public Service Corporation to ascertain the advisability of extending gas service from New Holstein to Chilton shows that excessive construction costs, due to the rocky soil conditions south of the city and the necessity of erecting a high pressure storage tank here, will prevent the building of the extension.

Mr. and Mrs. Arno Zenk and son of Fort Atkinson spent the weekend at the home of Mrs. Zenke's mother, Mrs. Anna Ryan.

Mrs. H. R. Schwake, son Alvin, and daughters, Alice and Julietta, of Two Rivers, visited at the A. J. Pfeiffer home during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Morrissey and son Winfield, left on Monday for Rochester, Minn., Duluth, Iron River and other points.

Miss Christine Weeks, who has taught in the Green Bay schools for the past year, returned to her home in this city and will spend the summer with her mother Mrs. Katherine Weeks.

Louis Stark has gone on a camping trip to Lac du Flambeau, to be gone for about ten days. Others in the party are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wolfe and Miss Gretchen Casper of Hilbert.

Work has been started on the grading of Highway 57 between New Holstein and Kiel for the construction of a concrete road. The Seuster Construction Co., of Denmark, has charge of the work. The distance to be paved is more than three miles. It is expected that the work will be finished late in the summer.

The Schneider and Stelter Motor Co., which has been doing business in the Vahldeek building on E. Main-st will hereafter be conducted by Raymond Schneider, who has purchased the interest of his partner.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Youngbeck and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pomranke were in New Holstein on Sunday to attend the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. A. Alberts. Mr. and Mrs. Alberts were former residents of this city, the latter being a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. Timm.

TWO THIRDS RULE BOBS UP AGAIN AS DEMOCRATS GATHER

Old Order Has Held Fast Despite Numerous Attacks in Last 96 Years

BY RODNEY DUTCHER.

Houston, Tex.—Once more the Democratic party is going to sit through a national convention without abrogating its famous two-thirds rule. Efforts to change to nomination by majority vote have been made ever since the rule was instituted 96 years ago. They have always failed and it appears that the rule will barely be mentioned during this convention. Two years ago both the McAdoo and Smith factions were willing to abolish it. Twenty-two members of the Democratic national committee went on record against it. But many months ago, as McAdoo withdrew and finally withdrew, the Smith leaders concluded that if Smith could get the nomination in the way all Democratic candidates had obtained it since Andrew Jackson, it wouldn't be worth having. So they dropped their agitation for a change and are not expected to revive it under any circumstances. The anti-Smith factions, of course, now strongly support the rule, as it offers their one thin chance to stop the New York governor.

Some Democratic leaders have felt all along that the convention, leaving it in effect this year, should take steps to remove it beginning with 1932. But nothing is likely to be done in that direction at Houston unless the rule should figure unexpectedly and importantly. The trouble is that each convention is a law unto itself and cannot decide the policies of the next. Your correspondent is writing about the rule because, as suggested there is a barest chance that it will block Smith, in which case everyone will be discussing it again. It is often described as unfair and undemocratic but this is what its supporters say in its favor: It serves the same purpose as the realignment of delegates in the Republican convention, designed to meet the fact that there are some states where the party is a party only in name and never elects anyone. The so-called non-effective states for Republicans are in the south; the non-effective states for the Democrats are in the west and the north.

Both parties hold that the states which never give them a majority should not control the party nominations. The issue has been raised this year by Hoover's use of his southern delegates and the Smiths' cleanup in state conventions in the north and west. There is a close parallel, except that there are more Democrats in Republican states than vice versa.

The Republicans meet the situation by giving the southern states only one convention vote to a district instead of two unless the Republican vote is 10,000 or more. Then they give the other states bonuses of three delegate apiece when they return Republican majorities.

Allocation of delegates is based on electoral votes, except for the territories and insular possessions. A glance at the tables reveal that in many states where the party convention is held, the party vote is twice as many votes from each state as that state has electoral votes. In the Republican column, southern states have nowhere near as many, while Republican states will be observed to be treated on the same ratio used by the Democrats, with three votes generally added.

Quite differently, the Democrats now rely on the two-thirds rule to prevent the normally Republican states from forcing nominations over the objection of the normally Democratic states. It is interesting to note that Wyoming, which gave Davis only 13,000 of the 80,000 votes in 1924, is the only state where the party convention this year instructed its delegation to oppose the two-thirds rule. Three or four other states instructed their delegations to support it.

The principle of majority rule figures in the Democratic state conventions. In those the allocation of delegates depends on the party vote in the state. At the same time the party convention is instructed to apportion the national convention delegates. Pennsylvania would have about 20 instead of 28 and Minnesota 10 or 12 instead of 24. But the Democrats are more optimistically than the Republicans. Theoretically, they hope every four years to capture such states as those.

Allocation to nominations decided by non-effective states was given as one of the original reasons for the rule. As it stands now, either the south, the east or the west can virtually exercise a veto on the nomination, the theory being that the rule also makes for party unity.

The rule was first used in the Jacksonian convention at Baltimore in 1832. Jackson's "Kitchen cabinet" devised and promoted it. Historians have argued whether it was primarily meant to block John C. Calhoun's efforts to become Jackson's running mate or merely to make the vice presidential nomination of Martin Van Buren, more impressive to the people. Van Buren cleared the barrier on the first ballot; Jackson was renominated unanimously.

But in 1841, Van Buren, who had been once elected and once defeated for the presidency, became the first presidential candidate to obtain a conventional majority and yet fail to be nominated. A resolution which retained the two-thirds rule was passed by 30 votes.

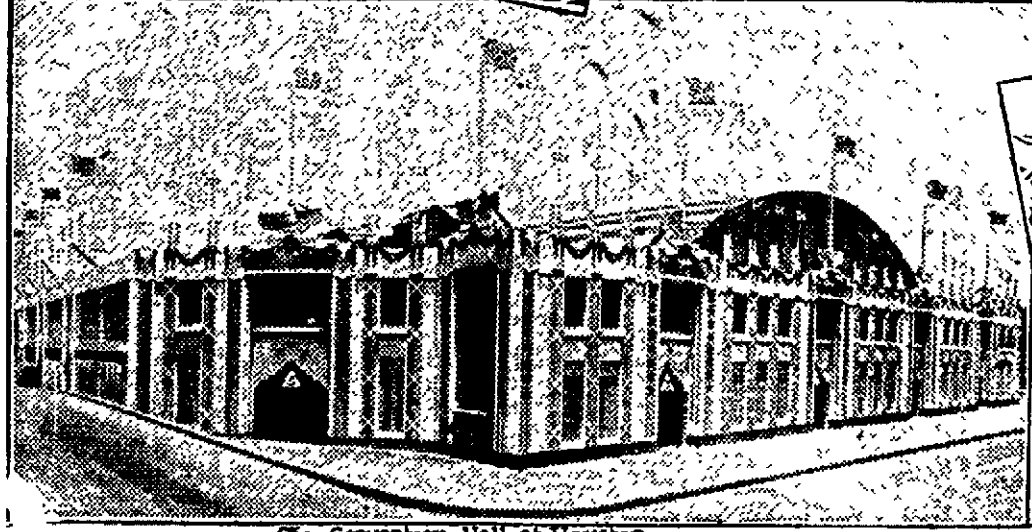

Many instructed delegates who later voted for Van Buren knew at that time that they were defeating him. The presiding officer refused to entertain a resolution to declare Van Buren elected because he had received a majority and the convention stand-pat for the first successful dark horse candidate, James K. Polk.

Opponents of the two-thirds rule have suggested that it had not been in effect in 1860, Stephen A. Douglas would have been nominated and elected over Lincoln, a minority winner, and that the Civil War might have been averted. It was the party split up, and allowed the Republicans to win, which brought on the war. Off and on there have been attacks on the two-thirds rule ever since. The last three Democratic conventions

STAGE And SCREEN

"LAUGH, CLOWN, LAUGH"

Before an audience of more than seven hundred people in a huge replica of a European theatre, Lon Chaney made his bow, for the first time in many years, as a vaudeville performer, playing a clown as a headline attraction. The vaudeville performance takes place in his newest picture, "Laugh, Clown, Laugh" now playing at Fischer's Appleton Theatre.

Chaney, as the tragic clown of the noted play, the role of Lon Chaney, more created on the stage, presents a complete vaudeville act and proves himself a clever comedian in this detail of the new Herbert Brenon production. Later in the play in the episodes behind the scene, he plumbs the very depths of tragedy.

The new picture was staged on a sumptuous scale at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studios. The huge theatre scene, in which hundreds of people took part; a vaudeville bill of professional players; majestic Italian palaces and other huge details, marked the making of the picture. Chaney plays a clown who becomes a star of the theatre and then makes a tragic sacrifice on the altar of the happiness of his beloved. The cast is a notable one, including Loretta Young, latest Cinderella of the screen and hailed as one of the year's "discoveries." Nils Asther, the clever Swedish actor of "Sorrell and Son" and others; Bernard Siegel, noted character actor of stage and screen; Gwen Lee, Wampas Baby Star of 1928; Cissy Fitz-Gerald and others of note.

The thrilling slide of the clown, on a cable over the heads of the audience, the comedy antics of the clown hero, the tragic sacrifice and a charming love story running through the picture, lend infinite variety. Gorgeous costumes and settings add spectacle. Herbert Brenon, who directed fight, because of it, have been long and bitter. In 1912 Champ Clark became the second Democrat to get a majority and yet lose the nomination. Wilson was nominated on the 46th ballot. Cox on the 44th in 1920 and Davis on the 103rd in 1924. None of these lengthy sessions have done the party any particular good.

Apparently any successful campaign to abolish the two-thirds rule must be waged first in all the state conventions. The national convention hates to break its tradition for any one candidate and the candidate seldom ever wants it to do so.

NELLER IN SEMI-FINALS OF TENNIS TOURNAMENT

James Neller, one of the junior entrants in the Y. M. C. A. city wide tennis tournament, defeated Stanley Zahrt and was the first to be placed in the semi-finals to be played this week, according to Irving Buck, assistant boys' work secretary. Other contestants have not reported the results of their matches.

Ted Bolton, Paul Hackbert, William Scott, and Michael Gochauer playing in the older boys' tournament will compete for placement in the semi-finals.

HAND DOWN RULING ON TAXING OF PARSONAGES

Madison—(P)—Church parsonages are free from taxation when rented by the church for use of its clergyman. Minister's homes are not, however, free from tax when the pastor rents the house himself from the owner. So the state tax commission has informed Dr. A. Le Grand, executive secretary of the Wisconsin Baptist state convention. "In order to exempt a rented parsonage, a church, association must be the lessee. If the pastor is the lessee, it is not exempt," the commission said.

MOVE CITY SHEDS TO WIDEN ALLEY WAY

Widening of the alley back of W. College-street from S. Walnut-st to the ravine will begin as soon as street department employees finish wrecking the concrete foundation for the street barns. A part of the barn was cut off several days ago but the foundation still remains standing. The request to widen the alley came from merchants whose stores abut on the alleyway. They claimed the alley is not wide enough to permit moving trucks and cars with convenience.

Countless stories on the screen have attempted to show how to cure "cheating husbands," but it required the shrewdness of Willson Collier to contrive a method which completes that ugly business in one night. Collier, author of the successful stage comedies, "Getting Gertie's Garret" and "Up in Mabel's Room," reveals his system in "A Blonde for a Night." Marie Prevost's latest farce comedy which is showing at the Elite Theatre today and Wednesday. "A Blonde for a Night" possesses the qualities which lift screen comedies out above the average, and Director E. Mason Hooper is said to have taken full advantage of every farcical situation.

Put a brunette wife in pursuit of a husband with a blonde complex and a hilarious series of happenings is certain to develop. That is the theme of "A Blonde for a Night," and it has been generously augmented with humorous developments destined to keep an audience in good humor.

Franklin Pangborn and Harrison Ford are cast in the important featured parts in support of Miss Prevost.

Bryan's Name Off Democratic Roll First Time In 30 Years

Houston—(P)—A name that has swayed every Democratic national convention for 30 years is missing from the rolls as the party convenes here to choose its 1928 presidential nominee.

The silver-tongued oratory of William Jennings Bryan, whose energy, courage and idealism influenced national party gatherings from 1896 to 1924, has been still by death.

Three he was the Democratic choice for president and although three turned back he remained a power in its councils. Even at Madison Square Garden, in the memorable deadlock of 1924, he was a major factor as head of Florida's delegation and a leader of William G. McAdoo's supporters. In the compromise that resulted in nomination of John W. Davis for president, Bryan won for his brother, Charles W. Bryan, governor of Nebraska, the nomination for vice president.

In 1892, a few months after he was elected to congress from Nebraska, Bryan won national attention with his tariff speeches, but it was in 1896, when he went to the Democratic national convention prepared to lead the free silver wing of the party, that he laid the foundations for a political career which made him a popular idol. Selected to support the silver plank before the convention, "the boy orator of the Platte" delivered his famous speech which concluded: "You shall not press down upon the brow of labor this crown of thorns; you shall not crucify mankind upon a cross of gold."

He threw the convention, groping for a presidential nominee, into an uproar. In a barrage of shouting and wild applause, delegation after delegation stampeded to the Bryan standard. The champion of free silver coinage had won the nomination and the leadership of his party.

In the strenuous campaign his energy never lagged. He won a following even outside his own party, but he also frightened from his banner many conservative Democrats and he lost to McKinley.

In 1924, at the last national convention he was to attend, his was still a silver tongue that won a hearing amid the bedlam and his name was one that brought cheering cheers.

This time even the Commoner's brother, Charles, Democratic vice presidential candidate four years ago and present nominee of his party for the governorship of Nebraska, may be absent from the Democratic gathering. If he comes here he says he plans no active part in the deliberations.

LUTHERANS PICK BAY MAN FOR PRESIDENT

Synod Conference at Hortonville Will Continue Through Friday

The Rev. August Zieh, Green Bay, was elected president of the North Wisconsin district of the Wisconsin synod of Lutheran churches at Hortonville Monday. The conference began with services Sunday and will continue with sermon and business meetings through Friday.

Other officers elected Monday are: first vice president, the Rev. F. Schumann, Sawyer; second vice president, Rev. K. Toepel, Algona; secretary, the Rev. G. E. Boettcher, Hortonville; assistant secretary, the Rev. H. Kirchner, Stambough, Mich.; treasurer, Albert Voelcke, Appleton.

About 100 ministers, 16 teachers, and 50 lay delegates from northern Wisconsin and the north peninsula of Michigan are attending the convention. Appleton ministers attending are the Rev. T. J. Sauer, R. E. Ziesemer, Rev. Ph. A. C. Froelike, and Rev. F. M. Brandt. Ernest Schulz, principal of St. Paul school and four lay delegates, Albert Voelcke, Henry Oelke, William Mueller, and George Krueckeberg, also are in attendance.

The Rev. Mr. Zieh was the chief speaker Monday while the speakers Sunday were the Rev. E. B. Schluter, Oshkosh, and Paul Oehlert, Kaukauna.

TOWN ROAD WORK IS STOPPED BY RAINS

Town road work in the county is at a standstill this week due to heavy rains during the last week causing gravel pits to fill with water. Some roads have been graded and the road crews were ready to haul gravel but the rains interfered. In some places these roads are almost impassable. About two or three weeks of dry weather will be necessary before the pits will be in condition for work to be resumed.

PAINTERS KICK ON STATE HELP DOING EXTRA WORK

In various forms it has frequently confronted the state's legal advisers and department heads. This time it has arisen through objections on the part of union labor to employees of the department of public property engaging in painting and carpenter work after the close of their eight-hour day with the state.

C. E. Ballard has asked whether such employment violates the civil service law.

In previous opinions on somewhat similar questions, the legal department has ruled that clerks and stenographers may not receive extra pay for work done in their own department after closing hours. However, if such clerks perform work in times of emergency for division of the government other than their own, they may receive extra compensation.

Because of criticisms directed at it by the legislature, the state railroad commission recently ruled that none of its employees might work on their own time for any concern save a municipality.

FALTERING REDS LOSE ANOTHER BATTLE TO CARDINALS

Second-Division Berth Looms For Cincy Ballers Before Many More Games

Giants Take Undisputed Second With Double Win as Cubs, Pirates Rest

A second division berth looms for the Cincinnati Reds unless Jack Hendricks can pull his faltering crew together within the next few days.

The Reds lost ground they ill could afford Monday when the Cardinal steam-roller crunched its way to a 5 to 2 triumph in 11 innings. The steam roller was a bit late getting into operation, mainly because Eppa Jephtha Rixey, elongated lefthander of the Reds, was having one of his periodical good days. He pitched on even terms with Jess Haines until the 11th when the storm broke. Jim Bottomley, mainspring of the Cardinal attack, started the rally with his 23rd double of the season. Soon the bases were filled and Chick Hafey did a Frank Merriwell with a sack-cleaning triple, scoring himself when Val Plidenich let the throwin roll through his legs.

While the Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates were idle, the New York Giants moved into undisputed possession of second place with a double win over the Phils, 12 to 4 and 8 to 2. Larry Benton chalked up his 12th victory in 15 starts, all complete games, in the first contest.

The Dodgers hit Ben Cantwell hard and chalked up their fourth straight victory at the expense of the Boston Braves, 9 to 3. Doug McWeeny pitched a strong game for the Robins granting seven hits Del Eisonette went into a tie with Bottomley for homerun leadership with his 15th of the year.

SENATORS BEAT MACKS

The Washington Senators, now playing the kind of baseball that had been expected of them, knocked off the Philadelphia Athletics twice at the capitol, 3 to 2 and 7 to 2. Braxton and Brown, both left handers, held the Athletics helpless in both games.

The Tigers again moved into the cellar while Chicago was moving out, when the Sox battered out an 8 to 5 victory at Detroit. Moe Berg led the Sox attack with two singles and a double.

Morgan's home run, one of five hit during the game, gave the Cleveland Indians a 7 to 4 win over the Browns at St. Louis. Heinie Manush hit twice for the circuit. Lou Blüe and Luke Sewell got one apiece.

AMERICAN WATER POLO TEAM ALL-STAR GROUP

Chicago—(P)—America's Olympic water polo team again will be an all-star aggregation.

Because of the dispute over the National championship between the Chicago Athletic Association and the Illinois Athletic club at the indoor meet here last April, the United States Olympic committee changed its plan of sending one team to represent the United States at Amsterdam.

The team will be composed of 11 players from four clubs and Stanford University. The players are: Johnny Weissmuller, Wallen and Laver of the I. A. C.; Topp, Greenberg, Daniels and Breyer of the C. A.; Mitchell and Schroth of the Olympic club, San Francisco. Harrison of Stanford and Vollmer of the New York Athletic club.

Dayton, O.—Eddie Anderson, Chicago and Mike Dundee, Rock Island, Ill., drew (12).

Alton, O.—Gorilla Jones, Arkon won over Billy Algers, New York (10).

Little Rock, Ark.—Jimmy Watts, Atlanta outpointed Chico Chrisenos, Mexico (10).

Lord Burghley Only Threat To Star American Hurdlers

BY JOHNNY MAGEE

The 400-meter hurdles is one of the most strenuous events on any track and field program. When one stops to consider any one running over hurdles, three feet high, forty yards apart for a full quarter of a mile in 52 and 3-5 seconds, even the most skeptical will admit it is a marvelous performance. The 400-meter distance is some three yards shorter than the regular American standard 440-yard hurdle event.

Although the United States was the winner in this race at the last Olympiad held in Paris in 1924, which was captured by Morgan Taylor of Grinnell College, it was only after the great Charlie Brookings of Iowa University, the big favorite, had been disqualified by one of the foreign officials in a preliminary heat for an infraction of the rules.

I well remember how Brookings, who holds the present world's record for the 200-yard hurdles with a mark of 22 seconds, cleaned up the field in his heat by at least 20 yards only to be ruled out for trailing his left leg outside the hurdle on the turn.

The decision caused quite a stir among the American officials and coaches as Brookings protested the official's ruling. With Brookings out, our chances took a decided drop, but Morgan Taylor, the blond-haired youth from the middle west, came through in fine fashion, as did Dan Kinsley, from the same section.

HUNTER'S DEFEAT IN MEET SURPRISES FANS

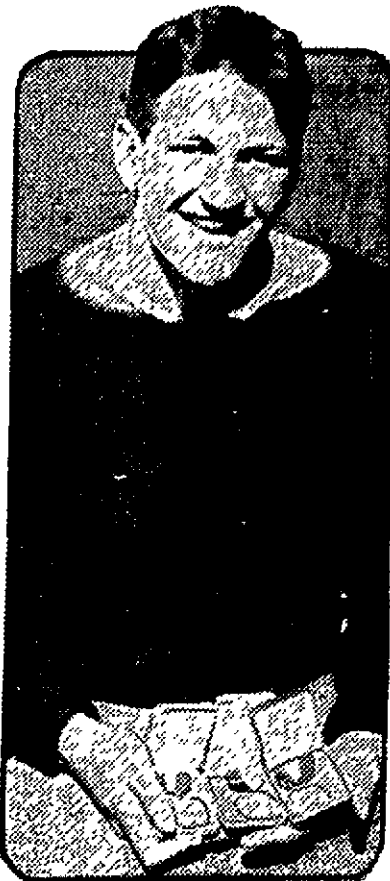

London—(P)—Tennis experts commenting in the morning papers Tuesday viewed the defeat of Francis T. Hunter of the United States in the English singles tennis championship as the dramatic sensation of the Wimbledon tournament.

The experts were no less surprised than pleased at the New Zealander Ed Anders' victory over Hunter, which was the only bright ray in what was admitted to be a bad day for Great Britain.

Wearing a football sweater and golf knicker, the smiling young man above doesn't look like what he is. He is Johnny Kojak, 17-year-old New York boy who is expected to be one of the winners in the Olympic swimming meet this summer in Amsterdam. In the recent national championships he won the 100 meters back stroke, was second in the 300 meters medley and lost by inches to the great Johnny Weissmuller in the 100 meters free style. He is qualified for the Olympic team.

SUNDAY'S GAMES
Green Bay at Wrightstown.
Kimberly at Little Chute.
Kaukauna at Sunny Corners.

League leaders were undisturbed in the Eastern Badger League Sunday and as a result Green Bay and Little Chute still are tied for first place. Green Bay traveled to Kimberly and swamped the Papermakers, 10-4, and at the same time the Chutesmen were wrecking Kaukauna's heavyweights, 6-4. Sunny Corners continued its losing streak but by only a single run, losing to the Wrightstown Terriers at Wrightstown, 7-6.

Next Sunday Kimberly will make a supreme effort to lower the Little Chute colors in a great battle of old rivals at the new Chute ball park. Green Bay's sloop leaders invade Wrightstown. The Terriers have been waiting patiently for the meeting to get revenge for their last meeting at Bellvue park on June 3 when the Gazette got them for two runs in the ninth frame beating them by one score after they had the game recorded as a win. The fans around Wrightstown are taking interest in the Badger league and was shown in the last battle at home when a record crowd was in attendance.

Although K. S. Dickinson, Appleton, former Wisconsin state amateur champion, played a stellar role for the Northeastern Wisconsin Golf association team in its interstate match Monday at Iron Mountain, Mich., with the Upper Michigan Peninsula Golf association team, the Wolverine links-men won their first match in three years from the Badgers and kept the invaders from taking the final leg on the interstate cup. The final score was 35-29 for Michigan, though the Badgers rallied gamely near the close of the meet.

Wisconsin won the afternoon round by its rally by a 19-15 score, but a 20-10 victory for Michigan in the morning 18 holes was too great to overcome. Cold weather and rain handicapped the golfers. John Boyce of Escanaba had low score of 74.

Dickinson shared honors with A. C. Whiteboro, Green Bay, each scoring five points for the Wisconsin team. Whiteboro won 2-1 in the morning and 2-0 in the afternoon. Dickinson won his first nine holes in the morning and tied the last nine and was given the win, 2-0. He then came back for a 3-0 win in the afternoon. His morning victory was over Francis St. Peter, stellar champion of Upper Michigan.

WOMEN HOLD STAGE AT WIMBLEDON NET EVENT

Wimbledon, England—(P)—Women were the center of interest at Wimbledon Tuesday in play for the English tennis title. Helen Wills, who holds the title, will not make her debut until Wednesday, having drawn a bye into the third round.

Senorita Elia de Alvarez, who reached the finals last year, was matched against Mrs. Randolph Lycett of England, Mrs. Molla Mallory of New York, against Miss L. Bickerton. No women will play on the center court until, following Wimbledon tradition, Miss Wills as reigning champion makes her bow there.

Miss Betty Nuthall, youthful English star, scratched her entry to the women's singles because a recent attack of hay fever affected her form. She intends, however, to compete in the doubles.

MANY CHANGES IN INTER-CO LEAGUE

Little Chute, Oneida, Only Teams to Remain in Same Holes

STANDINGS

Little Chute	7	0	1.000
APPLETON	5	2	.714
DePere	4	3	.571
Freedom	4	3	.571
Wrightstown	3	2	.500

SUNDAY GAMES
APPLETON 6, HEBEL'S CORNERS 5
 Little Chute 2, DePere 1
 Freedom 8, Wrightstown 6
 Combined Locks 10, Oneida 8

Surprise upsets by two of lowly teams of the Intercounty League and Little Chute's victory over DePere Sunday caused changes in the league standings for every team but the undefeated Chutes and Oneida. DePere, which had been tied for second before its 2-1 loss at the Chute, dropped to a tie with Freedom for third and Appleton by its 6-5 12-inning win from Hebel's Corners advanced to a lone second.

Freedom upset the strong Wrightstown team, 8-6, and as a result shot into the third-place tie with DePere, a game from second. Its loss also shot Wrightstown from fourth to fifth place. Oneida, maintained its sixth place though losing to Combined Locks, 10-8, but the first victory of the year for the Locksmen shifted them from the cellar for the first time this season to seventh place.

The Locksmen replaced the losing Hebel's Corner team which had held the post just over the Combined Locks boys for the last two weeks. In its first victory, DePere and both teams had been tied for the cellar since the start of the season without a win.

Little Chute outthrew DePere 5-3 and had only two errors to four for the losers. Stoffel and Brockhausen formed the winning battery while Schuster and Delfosse toiled for the losers. Wrightstown outthrew Freedom, 11-10, yet lost the 8-6 game when the Freedomites made every hit count. The winners had two errors and the losers three. Pocan and Wellhouse worked for Freedom and Klister and Cooper for the losers. Combined Locks found its batting eye to maul Swamp for 11 hits while the Indians could get only seven off Werley. Oneida helped the Locks cause with five errors while the winners misused only twice. Wildenberg handled Werley and Sommers caught for Swamp.

KIMBERLY YOUNGSTERS LOSE TO GREEN BAYS

Kimberly—Green Bay defeated the Kimberly Junior Holy Name team in an Eastern Badger League game here Sunday by a score of 10-4. The game was a close one until the ninth inning when the visitors brought in four runs with little trouble.

Goodchild, Green Bay's third baseman, led the way for his mates with the war club with four hits to his credit.

Moens, Green Bay hurler, fanned 12 Kimberly sluggers and allowed 10 hits, while Vander Zanden, Kimberly's pitcher, struck out 13 Bayernmen and let them gather 13 hits. Pigeon, Green Bay, and Le May, Kimberly, were behind the plate.

The loss still left Kimberly in second position in the loop with a .500 per cent record. Little Chute and Green Bay are still tied for first each winning and losing one game.

OLD DOC FIXEM can't turn a wheel if your battery is so far gone that hardening of the arteries, double consumption and heart failure have gripped it for good—or bad. Don't call in the battery doctor just before the patient turns its face to the garage wall. Don't wait until the last feeble gasps indicate approaching rigor mortis. See us while there's still life and hope. Then we can very likely prolong the life of your battery until it gives you the kind of service that marks it a real bargain.

Many thousands of miles of real life have been added to batteries for very low cost, when the patient is brought in early enough. How old is your battery? Check that back in your mind for a minute—and then come in to see us.

At that time, too, we'll show you why and how the Globe is the longest lived battery we know—the next one you ought to buy. First, however, let's see what we can do with the one you now have.

D. ABBOTT

David Abbott, captain of the championship Illinois track squad this year, is in a bad spot. He's a natural two-miler, but he will have to go for longer distances if he wants to make the Olympic team to Amsterdam this year.

Abbott crashed through with new records for his favorite event in the Big Tent meet as well as the national intercollegiate this year. He was first in the conference meet with the time of 9:23.7-10 and ran first in the intercollegiate in 9:28.8-10.

He is training now for the final trials at Boston in July, and Illinois officials are confident that he will make the squad. They say he's good enough to go in the 500-meter race, the event he'll try for.

HAHN DECIDES TO QUIT TRACK WORK FOR FARM

Boston—(AP)—Lloyd Hahn, one of America's brightest track stars, said Tuesday that he would quit running after the Olympic games.

"It will not be one of those stage farvels," he explained. "For I have made up my mind this time to settle down to business. You know a fellow has to give a great deal to track in time and in energy."

Hahn will probably devote his time to the large farm which his parents own, but do not work, outside of Falls City, Neb.

CAM-SCHULZ NINE WHIPS DALE CREW

Come from Behind Near Close of Game to Take 5-3 Victory

Coming through for three runs in the seventh and eighth innings, the Cameron-Schulz baseball team of Appleton whipped the strong Dale nine Sunday afternoon at Dale by a score of 5-3. The Appleton boys started out with two runs in the first half of the opening frame, but the home team scored three times the last half. Dale then went scoreless the other eight frames while the C-S men took a 3-3 lead with a pair of tallies in the seventh and another in the eighth.

Laubs opened the first frame with a life on an error and Ray Tornow singled. John and Joe Mayefski followed with doubles and two Appleton runs were scored. Triple netted Dale in the second, but a single and an error, a single and a triple netted Dale in the seventh with two out. Horn singled and scored on Laubs' triple and Laubs scored on an error. Three hits added the other C-S run in the eighth.

Don Kranzsch worked for the local nine and after the first frame held the home crew helpless. He allowed seven hits and fanned seven. Ray Tornow and Joe Mayefski got two hits each in four bats and Laubs scored two of the five runs. Archer had two hits in three bats for the losers and Wallem in two in four. Kilgas, former Kaukauna Cub hurler, was on the mound for Dale and he hurled a nice game allowing nine hits and fanning ten.

FOOD FOR CHICKENS AND PIGS REQUIRES MOST ATTENTION

STATE MAN CLAIMS HAY TAKES CARE OF ALL OTHER ANIMALS

Says "Pigeon Breasts" Are Result of Lack of Sufficient and Correct Food

Madison—(P)—The right kind and amount of protein, the right kind and amount of minerals and vitamins A and D may be considered the weak links in the chain of feed for live stock, according to G. Bohstedt, of the state college of agriculture.

If the feeding ration is well bolstered up with respect to these three links, it will be satisfactory in its completeness and quality, he said.

"Of all farm animals, the chick and the pig are most exacting in their requirements of those factors, especially during the winter when the animals cannot be out in abundant sunshine and one pasture and forage crops."

"Cattle, sheep and horses are much better protected at that time, for a large amount of hay consumed to a large extent substitute for the health-giving pasture."

M. Bohstedt singles out the pig as a test animal for feeding rations because it is not a heavy grass or roughage consumer, and because, due to its rapid growth, its development in modern types, its nutritional needs are very pronounced.

Of the various grains, corn contains considerable amounts of vitamin A, which is the same vitamin contained in butter fat and in cod-liver oil, but all the rest of the grains and grain by-products are deficient in that vitamin. All grains, including corn, are deficient in vitamin D, which is also found in a number of fats or oils, for which reason both vitamins are sometimes referred to as fat-soluble vitamins.

Immunity or resistance of animals to infectious diseases is broken down by diets deficient in vitamins. Vitamin D prevents rickets in young animals. Where vitamin D is lacking, there result spindly, weak bones, which account for bowlegs and "pigeon breasts" and much depleted vitality.

SEE PROSPECTS OF BUMPER PEA CROP

General Manager of Packing Company Thinks There Will Be 75,000 Cakes

BY W. F. WINSEY
Holland—The Baker Canning Co., Dundas, started the first in the bollers Wednesday morning to test the boilers, tanks, pipes and connections.

Inside this, the plant is being overhauled and given a thorough cleaning preparatory to beginning the canning of the 1928 crop on July 1.

According to R. D. Baker, general manager, the output of the plant this season will be in the neighborhood of 75,000 cases if growing conditions continue favorable and no pests or disease appear to injure or destroy the fields. In predicting the above output, Manager Baker hedged by saying that a certain kind of pea lice are able to destroy a field of peas between sunset and sunrise.

"I have never seen a better stand than we have this year," said Mr. Baker, "and if nothing injures the peas before harvest, the crop in this vicinity will be larger than any preceding year. Some of our growers last year got $95 an acre for their crops and the average receipts per acre were $45. Peas are the quickest cash crop that a farmer can grow and if necessary a crop of peas may be followed by another crop the same year. The growers about here are raising 780 acres of peas this season."

"Although there has been an overproduction of peas since 1925 and the market has been dull, the Baker Canning Co. is sold out and the storage rooms are ready for the new crop."

NEWS ABOUT PRICES PAID TO FARMERS

Madison—(P)—Daily price advances featured hog markets of the state during the past week, according to the weekly review of the department of markets. Butcher markets were quiet, while cattle prices are about $3 and sheep about $1.65 higher than this time last year.

Butter buyers were mostly interested in medium grades which were rather closely cleaned up. Top scores were in liberal supply, but closely held as the bulk of this quality is high cost butter buyers were generally conservative and showed little interest. Toward the end of the week trade showed a little improvement, but was not active. Supplies were ample to the demand.

Low scores of butter showed some accumulation and were freely offered without interesting buyers. Cold storage holdings on June 21 at the four principal markets amounted to 19,813,321 pounds, as compared with 32,149,711 pounds on the same week day last year. Butter prices are about 3 1/2 cents higher than last year at this time.

Cold storage holdings of cheese of the entire country on June 1 showed a surplus which was not anticipated by most of the trade. Total storage holdings for June 1 amounted to 36,803,000 pounds, an increase of 6,651,000 pounds over the May 1 holdings, or a surplus of 977,000 pounds as compared with holdings of June 1, 1927.

This means, the marketing department said, that the entire country stored 3,312,000 pounds more in May, 1928, than the corresponding month of last year. It is reported that stocks of Canadian cheese as of June 1, 1928, amounted to 9,025,766 pounds, as compared with 11,213,487 pounds on June 1, 1927. Stocks in Great Britain are also reported as light. Cheese prices are about 2 1/2 cents higher than last year at this time.

Hog markets were featured by daily price advances. At the close of the week better grade hogs were mostly 70 to 80 cents higher, packing sows 50 to 60 cents higher and pigs 50 to 75 cents higher, as compared with the close of the previous week. Prices on hogs are about $1.65 higher than this time last year.

MAKE IMPROVEMENTS ON CLEM COX FARM

Kankakee—Clem Cox, route 4, has raised his barn and put a new concrete foundation under it. He returned a large part of the barn and is now remodeling the stable. He is now building concrete mangers, floors, and drains in the stable and will soon install 12 stanchions, five horse stalls and one steel pen. The improvements will soon be finished.

HELPS FARMERS

New Jersey has appointed W. C. Krueger, specialist in rural electrification. His duties are to set up electrical equipment on demonstration farms and give information as to cost, operation and operating expenses to visiting farmers.

The company packs nothing but No. 10 cans. While in operation, the Dundas plant employs 60 people.

FIND CHERRY CROP IN OTHER SECTIONS FAR BELOW NORMAL

Door-co Growers Make Trip Through East and Give Reports

BY W. F. WINSEY
Sturgeon Bay—To get first hand information of fruit conditions in other sections, H. M. Uspersger, manager of the Door County Fruit Growers Union, left Sturgeon Bay last Monday and on a tour of the east and returned today.

On his outward trip, he crossed Lake Michigan on a ferry to Traverse City. From that city he traveled along the west shore of Michigan, visiting the orchards of Muskegon, Hart, Shelby and Holland. From Holland he proceeded to Detroit where he took a boat to Buffalo.

He also covered northwest New York, the Geneva Experiment station and returned by way of Lansing and Frankfort. In company with Mr. Uspersger were E. L. Johnson, manager of the Martin Orchards, Sturgeon Bay, Dr. A. L. Roberts, of the Wisconsin Horticultural Department, and Howard Morgan of the John C. Morgan Canning Company, Traverse City. The party, on its way, inspected orchards and canneries and were present at informal meeting at the Traverse City Packing plant, the John C. Morgan company, the Traverse City Canning company and the Grand Travers Packing company.

As he had previously bought a couple of million pounds of outside cherries, Mr. Uspersger did not add to his purchase on the tour he has just completed.

In reporting the cherry crop for the present season, Mr. Uspersger said, "In New York state, the cherry crop is smaller than in 1927, many sections very light and others only fair. Not a single orchard was found with a good crop of cherries. Present estimate is from 20 to 25 per cent a normal crop. In the Traverse City section, Michigan and the central section are good crops, the southern section is fair to poor. The crop is from 25 to 35 percent of normal. Reports from Colorado indicate a very poor crop. In Sturgeon Bay, the prospect is for a good crop but not a bumper crop."

The cherry crop for the country as a whole is considerably below normal but I believe there will be enough cherries to supply the market demand.

INSECTS VERSUS MAN

Ten insect pests do a damage of more than $3,500,000 annually to truck and garden crops in Illinois alone. The agricultural college of the University of Illinois has just issued a circular which gives valuable information in combating these pests.

HAS MORE LIVESTOCK

Livestock is increasing on Missouri farms. This year, 8,200,000 head of stock, valued at $13,633,000, are on farms in this state. Last year stock totaled 6,134,000 head and was valued at $210,222,000.

HIGH COST OF EGGS

It costs nearly 23 cents to produce a dozen of eggs in Oregon. By the time the farmer gets these to market and his profit and the retailer's are added, eggs range from 35 to 50 cents a dozen at the store.

TELLS HOW TO RAISE QUALITY OF CHEESE

Four Essential Things Necessary if Present Standard Is to be Maintained

Madison—Since the quality of cheese up to the time it is sent on its way to the consumer, is directly dependent upon both the care of the cheesemaker and the cleanliness of the producer, a few requirements are sent down by the dairy department of the Wisconsin agricultural college, which, if fulfilled, will raise even higher the general quality of Wisconsin cheese.

The producer should comply with four essential things. He should have clean pails, milk cans, and milk machines. He should milk clean by the dry hand method, and should keep only healthy cows. He should strain the milk properly, and wherever at all possible, he should cool the milk before delivering it to the factory. They point out how one careless farmer, delivering milk to a cheese factory can spoil the product to which every other member of the factory has contributed.

A cheesemaker has considerable of a responsibility, of course, which the Wisconsin dairy experts pointed out are, in the main, using a good starter, using clean vats and equipment, employing careful making methods throughout, and having proper curing facilities.

OUTAGAMIE-CO AMONG THOSE HAVING SPRAY RING COMBINATIONS

Badger Fruit Growers Discover It Is to Their Advantage to Fertilize

Madison—Wisconsin fruit growers are themselves discovering that it is time and money well spent to apply commercial fertilizers to their orchards, reports Conrad L. Kuehner, horticulturist of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture.

According to Kuehner, twenty-nine orchardists in Milwaukee county have used from five hundred to seven hundred pounds of sulphate of ammonia on their fruit trees this season. The number of trees fertilized in each orchard varies from five to four hundred trees. He says that as testimony to the fact that good results were noted by farmers who have used fertilizer in this manner before, is that those who used the fertilizer a year ago, increased the amount this year.

Other counties in which farmers are accepting the fertilization of orchards as a profitable procedure are Ozaukee, Racine, Waukesha, Green, Kewaunee, and Rock.

Spray rings are also growing rapidly in numbers throughout the fruit growing sections of the state, says Kuehner. A spray ring is a group of orchardists who are cooperatively associated in the ownership of a fruit tree spraying machine, which is taken from one farm to another throughout a neighborhood to fortify the trees against insect and other parasitic pests which destroy the fruit and reduce its quality. There were seven formed in Wisconsin this season, bringing the total number now in operation up to 144.

According to Kuehner, the average membership in a spray ring outfit is 10 men. Those counties where new spray rings were formed this year are Ozaukee, Rock, Waukesha, Milwaukee, Outagamie, Racine, Green, and Kewaunee.

SUN RAYS HELP HENS
Herbert Trifton, poultryman of Vancouver, B. C., has been getting increased egg production by using ultra-violet rays in his hen houses. Birds that used to lay two or three eggs a week, now lay daily up to eight or nine days.

FARM FACTS

WHEAT prices are at their highest point since September of last year. This is due to the poor condition of winter wheat this spring in the U. S. and less favorable reports from European countries, according to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

While America is keeping its agricultural methods up to the minute, L. M. Eastabrook, director of the world agricultural census, finds that many countries of the Old World are using antiquated methods of farming. In a tour of several countries he found that the water buffalo is still busy pulling a plow, man labor is the only labor and that modern means of freshening the soil was unknown.

Forest fires aren't the only thing that wrecks havoc with flame. Spontaneous farm fires take a toll of more than $50,000,000 every year. "Spontaneous combustion" in hay barns is the chief cause of these fires.

About 51,000 forest fires, according to the Forest Service, took their toll of forest lands every year during the last ten years. Nearly 15,000,000 acres, valued at more than $20,000,000, went up in smoke.

Back about a hundred years ago, forest land was regarded as a hindrance to progress. So people got busy and cut down trees to make the land ready for agriculture. But they went too far, according to the Forest Service, and the valuable hardwoods of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee were cleared off alarmingly fast. Now that the value of hardwood is increasing, these states are beginning to realize the worth of the trees and have started an extensive reforestation campaign. Saw mills are disappearing and state forest nurseries report a growing demand for planting stock.

PLANT MORE ALFALFA
The increasing popularity of alfalfa is shown in the increased acreage in Michigan. From 1919 to 1924, that state's alfalfa acreage went up 373 per cent. During the same five years, the acreage of the entire country increased nearly 25 per cent.

PLAN FARM INSURANCE

EVERYBODY IS BUSY ON VANDERHEY FARM

He Has a Dandy Herd of Grade Guernseys and She Raises Chickens

BY W. F. WINSEY
Holland—Henry Vanderhey is building a new barn, has one of the producing herds in his vicinity and his wife has started in the poultry raising industry on a comparatively large scale.

Mr. Vanderhey's new barn is of the hip roof type, 35 feet by 88 feet, on a stone foundation and equipped with two 14 foot threshing floors. The basement is well aired, lighted, and has cement floors. The mangers are constructed of cement. The floors are surface and sewer drained. The stables will be equipped with 25 steel stanchions for cows, two steel pens, five horse stalls, individual drinking cups, and a walled off milk room which is sealed and plastered and provided with running water forced from an artesian well by an electric motor. The barn, stables and milk room will be electric lighted.

The barn is finished and is ready for painting. The stables will be completed in August. When both are ready for use, Mr. Vanderhey will have one of the best and most completely equipped barns in his section of the state.

Mr. Vanderhey's herd of grade Guernseys is one of the highest testing herds in his community. In the flush period, when his 25 cows are milking, he gets from 600 to 700 pounds of milk daily with an average herd test of 4.5. In this herd are six cows that produce 65 pounds of butter fat each month and the herd average is 40 pounds of butter fat a month. His pure bred herd sire, Grandview Felix, from a 775 pound dam, was purchased from Baumgarten Bros. Wrightstown breeders of pure bred Guernseys.

After her husband had remodeled and modernized the farm chicken coop a year ago, Mrs. Vanderhey developed into a successful poultry raiser. She wintered 225 White Leghorn pullets and averaged for a considerable time 178 eggs daily. This spring she purchased 700 chicks and has reared 650 of the bunch. She expects to winter 300 pullets this season.

SET CHERRY CROP AT 15 MILLION POUNDS

Sturgeon Bay—The crop of cherries for Door-co this season will run up to the neighborhood of 15,000,000 pounds, according to the estimate of H. M. Uspersger, manager of the Door County Fruit Growers Union. While this is a big total it does not equal the bumper crop of 1924 when 15,000,000 pounds were produced. This season the Montemorency variety is very good but the Richmonds are light.

The Cramond beetle that waited across Green Bay recently in myriads and threatened great damage to fruit trees has disappeared and will not show up again this season. In the height of the invasion, the beetles were piled up on the shores several inches deep and considerable injury was done to trees near the shore. The shore was patrolled by fruit growers from Dykesville to Gills Rock to watch the progress of the pest and an airplane was on the ground to spray the orchards from above in case of need.

When A Girl Loves

© 1928 by NEA Service

INTRODUCTION
"If you marry that girl I'll jump in the river!"

The man at whom the reckless speech was directed smiled his disbelief.

"But I mean it, Niel," the girl persisted.

"Yes, of course you do. Just as you meant it with Bert last year and Harry the year before and..."

"Oh, shut up! I never pretended to care about them, but you are different. I'm crazy about you, Niel. The whole village knows it."

The young man made a gesture of weariness with one hand. His other busy at the table before which he stood, arranging the decorations for a buffet supper.

"Please stop being childish, Chiri," he said, "and help me with these flowers."

Chiri sniffed. "Orchids! I suppose she sent them."

"This time the man paused in his work to regard her seriously.

"Why not? She sent the orchids, too," touching the fine lace and linen cover, "and these," lifting a piece of sterling silver tableware. "In fact, she sent all this stuff, Chiri, but what does it matter if she wants the things she's accustomed to? It's her party, too, you know, and if I hadn't won the moral competition and used it as an excuse to celebrate down here we would be announcing our engagement uptown."

Across the richly appointed table the girl called Chiri, drew back and looked at him scornfully.

"You...poor...fool," she said slowly.

"For heaven's sake," he returned impatiently, "stop trying to quarrel with me and get busy; can't you slick these candles up straight?"

"I didn't come here to straighten candles! Everyone's talking about you, Niel and this...what's her name?...Brewster girl. We all think you're mad! Why Niel, dear..."

she changed her voice suddenly from anger to tender pleading—"can't you see it will ruin you to marry an outsider such as she is? Look, Niel! And we are used to bare boards, or Italian brocade when someone is lucky. How will you like to sit down day after day at precisely the same hour to precisely the same, correct table?"

The butler will sneer at you if you touch anything when you shouldn't and pretty soon you'll want to kill him; and what will you do when they call you to dinner just when you've caught the thing you couldn't get into your work for weeks and weeks..."

"God lord, Chiri, you don't know what you're talking about. I doubt if you've even seen a butler off the stage and besides we aren't going to live on Park Avenue. I hope to take Virginia to Rome next year and I imagine we'll be able to find a common meeting ground for our tastes."

"That kind of imagining has ruined many artists, Niel and you know it. Oh, I can't let you do it, I can't."

Chiri came like a whirlwind round the table and threw herself into his unwilling arms. Her hands clung round his neck and her ragged bob perfumed his lips. He disliked her perfume. It was a struggle to free himself without hurting her.

"Chiri," he began firmly, "I want you to stop this. You know you're only acting and that you aren't worried about my career."

Chiri smiled straight at him and threw pretense to the four corners of the big studio.

"Well, what if I'm not? I don't want you to marry, and one reason's as good as another."

"Then please save your acting for a better occasion. The only thing I've ever liked about you, Chiri, is your delicate truthfulness."

"But you don't like it when I say I love you."

"Because you're lying. But I'd be sorry if it were true, as I honestly believe I'm monogamous. Anyway, I've never loved and girl but Virginia, and I have an idea that I never will."

Chiri let a peculiar little sound that meant "too bad" escape her lips. "You're talking like a bourgeoisie already," she declared reproachfully. "That's what her influence has done for you. Monogamous! My God! Ah! nature wonderful!"

"Must you be vulgar?" Nathaniel asked quietly.

"Oh, I don't care what I am," Chiri cried with genuine tears in her eyes. They were, however, tears of exasperation. "You're the only man I love and you have to go monogamous."

Nathaniel laughed. "You talk as if that was a political platform. Chiri, I'm ashamed of you, honestly I am. Do you think even if I loved you I'd let myself be just another scalp at your belt? I'm beginning to be afraid of you."

"The trouble with you, Niel, you ought to have more conceit. Why should you care what brand my affections bear? It's my love I'm talking about and I guess I know more about it than you do. I'll guarantee it's interesting."

"Not to me, Chiri, please believe that. And there's the doorbell. A nice mess if it's Virginia. If it is, for heaven's sake behave yourself."

He moved off to answer the summons and the girl looked after him with malicious eyes. She could not have him. Not now. She knew that. But men change. Things change. And nothing could make her stop trying.

There hadn't been another man like Nathaniel Dann. If only she could make him say, just once, "I love you!"

Suddenly, like a cat springing, she reached out and grasped a beautiful purple and white orchid in her slim, nervous fingers and crushed it spitefully. It gave her the feel of hurting the girl who had won forever what she desired and could not have for even one hour.

Between her and the door stood a screen. She glanced at it with eyes made X-ray by her obsession. Nathaniel was kissing his love—she knew that and if she hadn't known already she would have when she saw the girl's face. It was radiantly beautiful as only the face of a woman happy in love can be. Niel's kisses seemed to linger in the shining tenderness of the clear gray eyes and the curves of the smiling lips.

Chiri hated to look at it when Nathaniel introduced her to Virginia. And the voice that greeted her afforded her afforded further irritation. It held notes like those that Nathaniel coaxes from his violinello when he played under the stars on hot nights.

Chiri loved poetry, beauty in sight and sound. She knew that Nathaniel loved it, took. And here he had found his dream girl. Chiri could see that.

For a moment she felt defeated, without hope. But having her way with Nathaniel had become like the battle of life itself to her. She could not give up.

But she knew she could gain nothing by creating a scene and her passion being what it was—a flame which she fed with conquest and fleeting satisfactions—she was able to control it, to speak calmly and act with ease. She might believe herself desperately infatuated with Nathaniel but she would never be swept into an unguarded demonstration of feeling. What she did, no matter how unconventional, was done with purpose. Only true love makes one forget oneself.

"What did you say her name is?" Virginia asked Nathaniel when Chiri had left them.

"Chiri," Odd, isn't it? Says it is part of the name of a South American fruit. Must have had strange parents, poor-kid."

"She seems...sort of...tropical. Who is he, what does she do?" Nathaniel asked.

"Well, she calls herself a student-model. Really gets serious now and then and tries to work, but mostly she models."

Deliberately Nathaniel watched Virginia then. Chiri had not been the first to plant the seed of doubt in his mind about the success of the marriage of an artist to one who might be presupposed not to understand art models.

"I've used her quite a lot lately," Nathaniel went on, still watching.

Virginia lifted calm eyes and spoke. "For your illustrations. I can see she was the woman's figure."

Virginia did not know why he did it. He came and took her in his arms and said, "Virginia, you are sweet."

She hadn't even thought about nudity! The figure she mentioned was clothed. He had sought to make her think Chiri was the lovely figure in the mural drawings, to get her reaction. And she hadn't had any. No more than an artist visiting him and discussing the same subject would have had.

No, certainly Virginia wasn't going to be cheap about his models. He had known that all the time. He felt he couldn't have loved her if he'd been less sure of her fine mind.

"What made you do that?" he asked him when he released her.

"You. You come over me sometimes like a wave of something I can't resist. I'll always have to kiss you, Virginia, when I feel like that."

"Good gracious. If it happens any time?"

"Anytime."

"Well, if the attacks aren't too close together we might arrange to have them happen in privacy. Do you think you will have another one tonight?"

The malady was cured for the moment by the ringing of the doorbell. "Is it your father?" Nathaniel asked.

Chiri hated to look at it when Nathaniel introduced her to Virginia. And the voice that greeted her afforded her afforded further irritation. It held notes like those that Nathaniel coaxes from his violinello when he played under the stars on hot nights.

Nominations Cause Much Grief For Telegraphers

It's a bad season for the telegraph operators. With the wires kept busy and hot by dispatches from the presidential nomination conventions to pressers all over the country, local operators complain that they have to wait and pounce on intervals when they can get business and personal messages through. During this season telegraph operators are brothers under the skin with the sisters of the telephone offices in the cry, "Line is busy."

The majority of wires sent are the "rush order," or "Rec'd shipment," kind. However, birthday greetings, such a place," telegrams contribute their share to the torrid temperature of the wires. June may be the bridal month but not so many wedding congratulatory telegrams are sent as wedding veils and June bride placards in windows would make you think should be sent. According to one operator, the most telegrams ever received in the local office for a wedding came on the occasion of a Jewish ceremony.

People find the booklets with ready-made greetings and congratulatory sympathies very useful but will not "lift" a phrase bodily without making a few individual changes.

Some people still look upon a telegram with as welcome eyes as they might turn on the advent of an undershaker. When a telegram was received at the office for one woman and she was informed of it over the phone, she exclaimed, "Oh, it can't be for me."

"I never get telegrams." She refused to take the telegram over the phone. Radiograms are becoming almost as numerous as telegrams. However, they will never take the place of a wire because of their lack of confidentiality. Any youngster who knows the code can pick up a radiogram in the air.

The cable code is interesting to anyone who has preserved his pirate gang delight of childish days in mysterious symbols with a meaning. Here's one that every college boy should know. "OIBY" meaning "will not have sufficient money." Here is one for mother, "MUTLU" meaning "are you all right?" "CAFP" means "met with an accident."

When son has run into the neighbor's new car and father, away on a business trip, wants to inform the family not to take action against the neighbors on the supposition that son can do no wrong, he writes, "CAHOW" meaning "Do not take any action."

Put the title of Irving Berlin's "Al-says" song into code for the close of the message to the best girl and you have "CATWO."

"CAZY" is "why do you not answer?" "CEAMS" stands for "is there any cause for anxiety?" "CELU" means "cancel arrangements" and "CEMU" means "arrived after a rough passage."

"CIYNO" means awkwardly, "CIPOF" means bankruptcy. The man who is tired of his fame need only write her "CIGPA" which means "be done."

Before going down to the cigar store for the box of ten cent straight, the code-crazy father wires, "CITAP" which stands for "boy, both doing well." "CITIS" stands for the same story with "girl" substituted.

"CIXUZ" is "business bad." "CYUCS" is "have you any choice?" and "CYUNK" is "no choice."

A rose by any other name is still a rose and "maske" still means congratulations, while "Masnu" means bon voyage with all love.

Here are the days of the week beginning with Monday: MEHER, MEHIS, MEHUI, MEHUKY, MEHOT, MEHIV, MEJAR.

Before daughter goes home to mother in tears she can wire "MIBET" which means "disagreement." "MILK" is "you can do as you like."

Here is a full size family—aunt, baby, brother, cousin, daughter, father, grandfather, grandmother, husband, mother, niece, nephew, sister, the children, uncle, and wife, in the order named: MOKSI, MOJTO, MOJUH, MOKAD, MOKEF, MOKIG, MOKOH, MOKRA, MOKSE, MOKTI, MOKUJ, MOKVO, MOKWU, MOLAP, MOLEG, MOLIH.

NEENAH

Played by Warning's Pennsylvanians No. 21308
Sung by Cooper Lawley No. 21390

This wonderful waltz is based on a melody from that favorite opera "Pagliacci." Warnings' handle it in their truly distinctive style. A striking vocal refrain tells the ironic tale of the clown. In the second recording, Cooper Lawley, familiar to victor record buyers as a member of a famous team, here contributes his first record as a solo Tenor.

Stories of Ships

In the modern great ocean greyhound are hidden many stories of men who toiled at inventions that help make the great ship go. Such a man was John Harrison, a poor English boy who invented the chronometer. Harrison's wonderful clock enables seamen to fix their longitude at any given point on their voyage. Harrison is sketched here at his work.

By NEA, Through Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge, Copyright, 1923-24.

Rudolph Diesel, a German, who invented an engine that would burn oil, is another. Many passenger liners and battle-ships now use Diesel engines.

The men who invented the self-righting lifeboat and the curious air-filled life-rafts also lived one of the stories that goes into a great steamship.

All around a huge ocean ship as she leaves port or docks are smaller steam craft, tugs and these pull and push their big brother ships about when entering or leaving the harbor. The ship, on its own power, would not be able to stop or turn quickly enough and great damage would result.

ONCE GREAT CHINAMAN LIVES AT MERCY OF FOES

Hankow, China—(AP)—Fortunes of war, so dependent in China on treachery, are pushing one of the greatest figures of recent Chinese history near-er and nearer the brink of oblivion. Marshal Wu Pei-fu, who dictated to Peking and commanded a quarter of a million troops from 1922 until he was betrayed by the "Christian" Feng Yu-shiang in 1924, has entered the decrepit twilight of his career. The nationalist regime of Nanking ordered his arrest and trial as an enemy of the country and its troops are approaching his last refuge in distant Szechuen province. Marshal Wu has led a precarious existence there since his subordinates betrayed him in Honan last summer. Nanking has ordered General Tang Sen (who rules a shifting feudal barony in eastern Szechuen, to seize Marshal Wu and hand him over, but Tang, formerly a subordinate of the unfortunate marshal, has contented himself with disarming and disbanding the remnants of the latter's once-powerful forces, and warning his old leader under surveillance at Wanchang. There the former ruler of Feng ordered his arrest and trial as an enemy of the country and its troops are approaching his last refuge in distant Szechuen province. Marshal Wu has led a precarious existence there since his subordinates betrayed him in Honan last summer.

ANNOUNCE SCHEDULE FOR GOLF GAMES AT SPRINGVALE COURSE

Report New London Links Are in Ideal Condition at Present

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Acting as chairman of the arrangements committee for tournaments to be played during the coming season at the Springvale Golf course, Dr. George Polzin has announced the season's schedule.

On Sunday, Herbert Schults won the first prize with a 70. William J. Butler took 72, Rudd Smith 74 and Marshall Stern 76.

Dr. Polzin is in charge of tournaments being arranged by the Lions club and these in which all club members may be participating.

The next dates, June 30-July 1, are open.

July 4, Flag tournament. Entry 50 cents. One prize each. Men play par 35 handicap. Ladies play par 35.

Wednesday, July 11, at Waupaca. Waupaca vs. New London.

July 15, Breakfast tournament. Two ball foursome starting at 8 o'clock. Nine captains choose teams. Losing team buys breakfast to be served at clubhouse. Nine holes. No handicaps. July 21-23 open.

Sunday July 22 at New London. New London and Waupaca.

The tournament of the Lions club will be an event on July 31, open to Lions of the city.

August 4-5, Open.

August 11-12, Clintonville and New London. Team event. Medal play.

August 18-19, Open.

August 25-26, Open.

Sept. 1-2, Team event. Losers buy winners golf ball. Match play. Total score of both teams.

Sept. 8-16, Presidents cup week. Final play on Sept. 16. Eighteen holes with handicaps.

Sept. 22 to 30, Club championship week for men. Sixteen to qualify. Elimination final play on Sept. 30. No handicaps.

Club championship week. Ladies. Eight to qualify. Elimination. Final play on Sept. 30. No handicaps.

Dr. Polzin states that Sunday's play was fine. Despite the cold and rain, a high 26 was opened by golfers who were able to drive to the course on the new concrete. Dr. Polzin is anxious to arrange games with golfers from other clubs. The greens and fairways are in excellent condition and the fact that many entrance fees are paid by golfers from neighboring cities, officials of the local course feel that Springvale has much for which to commend itself.

Wins from Gresham by Score of 3 to 1 in Duel Between Pitchers

Special to Post-Crescent
Clintonville—Clintonville beat Gresham Sunday by a score of 3 to 1. This game gives Clintonville a total of 8 victories to 1 defeat this season, and its lead in the Wolf River Valley League was materially strengthened by the defeat of Marion by the Neopit Indians last Sunday.

Clintonville began scoring in the first inning. Bentzler, the first man out, singled through short. He was caught off base while trying to steal second. O'Connor walked, and Flannagan ran him to third base. Froedberg made a perfect throw, sending O'Connor into the outfield.

In the eighth inning O'Connor got off first base on a hit. Flannagan sacrificed him to a second, and McClellan hit a long single, scoring O'Connor.

This game, like the one with Theron, was a battle between left handed pitchers. Petek secured 8 strikeouts with no walks and allowed 6 hits. Ed Hoffman of Gresham struck out 2, allowed 3 walks and 9 hits.

The marriage of Miss Elsie Tandy and William Carew was solemnized at St. Rose Catholic church Monday morning at 8 o'clock, with the Rev. N. J. Dietrich as officiating clergyman.

They were attended by Mary and Emil Tandy of this city, sister and brother of the bride.

The bride was attired in white satin trimmed in Chantilly lace and crystal beads, a white illusion veil caught with a diamond and pearl headpiece and lace, and carried a shower bouquet of roses and sweet peas. The bridesmaid wore a peach colored dress with lace, a picture hat and footwear to match.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Tandy and the son of the son of William Carew of this city.

After a wedding breakfast served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carew left on a trip into northern Wisconsin, Upper Michigan and Canada.

They will make their home at a position with the Lea Clothing company.

GOLD AND SILVER TRODDEN IN DIRT

Algers, Morocco—(U-P)—Gold and silver "dust" that has been accumulating for centuries is to be taken from Moroccan jewelers' "souks" and sold. The "souks" are the market places. Jewelers, like all other tradesmen, work there in the open or in small little shops, not succeeding farther in the business, always on the same spot.

The "sweepings," so valuable in American and European jewelry workrooms, never have been gathered and smelted here. The first effort to do this will be tried by a newly formed French company, whose experts believe there are fortunes in gold and silver filings trodden into the dirt floors of the native shops.

Creek at the home of Mrs. Patterson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sassen.

SMITH FRIEND SAYS ITS AL ON 1ST BALLOT

Governor's Pre-convention Manager Expects Nomination Thursday Night

Houston, Tex., (P)—That Governor Alfred E. Smith will be nominated on the first ballot was suggested Tuesday by George R. Van Namee, manager of his pre-convention activities. Mr. Van Namee's first effort was to forecast specifically the action of the Democratic convention.

"The logic of events at Houston and the general good feeling that prevails," said the Smith manager, "indicates that Governor Smith's popularity is so great that it is doubtful even his managers wished that they could delay his nomination beyond the first ballot."

TAKE NO CHANCES

"Every delegate here knows that the party has a great chance to win and no chance will be taken of placing that opportunity in jeopardy. Any Democrat who wants his party to be successful knows that we must leave here with good feeling prevailing."

Asked as to his idea of the time for the start of balloting, Mr. Van Namee said he believed the balloting would start Thursday.

John W. Davis, nominee for the presidency in 1924, who reached Houston to take his place as a delegate at large from New York, had nothing to say immediately after his arrival.

"Franklin D. Roosevelt, floor manager for Governor Smith, who placed him in nomination four years ago and who will perform the same function this week, steadfastly held to his resolution to have nothing to say until he takes the platform to nominate New York governor."

Mayor James J. Walker, another delegate at large from New York, who will join Frank Hague, a fellow mayor of Jersey City, in aiding Mr. Roosevelt's floor direction, smiled his confidence in the convention outcome but would not forecast.

WOMAN FLYER READY FOR HOP TO BERLIN

Thea Rasche Waits at Quebec Field for Favorable Weather

Three Rivers, Que., (P)—Miss Thea Rasche and the monoplane, North Star, purchased for her by Mrs. James A. Stillman, were at Cap de la Madeleine flying field near here Tuesday, awaiting favorable weather for a flight to Europe.

"The plane was flown here from Hadley Field, N. J., Monday by Ulrich Koeneemann, Miss Rasche, German aviator, came on by train and was at the field when her plane arrived."

Officials of the airport stated that arrangements had been made to fuel the plane here fully for a trans-Atlantic flight and they believed she would make no stop once she took off until she reached her destination, which probably would be Berlin.

BADGER DELEGATES REFUSE TO CAUCUS

said there were 18 delegates present at that proxies of one of the delegates. He said the nomination of Mrs. Carrigan was almost unanimous. At the same time the delegation organized for the convention, electing Dwinell as chairman, and filling all convention committee posts. As the day of the opening of the convention arrived, Dwinell said there was no business for the delegation to caucus upon. If anything developed, he said, he would call a caucus.

WON'T PROPOSE MITCHELL

The delegation leader said there had been no decision reached upon who Wisconsin would support for vice-president, but doubted that the name of Colonel William L. Mitchell, foe of the nation's aviation policy, being groomed by some for the gubernatorial race, would be offered as a native son candidate. Several delegates had suggested such a move would aid the Democrats in the coming state campaign. A concerted movement to have the election of Mitchell, for example, Mitchell as the leader of the state ticket, has been started by the delegates.

John Callahan expressed belief that the Wisconsin delegation which is solidly for Smith should be guided in their support of a vice presidential candidate by the wishes of the New York governor.

There is strong for the idea of nominating Smith and a strong running mate. Calvin Stewart, Kenosha, Wisconsin member of the resolutions committee was authority for the statement that the delegation favored a wet plank in the platform, feeling that nothing would be gained if a dry plank was inserted due to the prohibition views of Governor Smith.

Calvin Stewart, Wisconsin member of the platform committee, Tuesday gave out a draft of the planks which he will ask the resolutions committee to consider. He would pledge the presidential nominee, if elected to enforce the prohibition enforcement act.

Under the title of "personal liberty" Stewart would ask the party to "oppose the enactment or maintenance of any law which unnecessarily circumscribes or restricts the liberties of the people but favor any and all laws which tend to enlarge and make more secure the peoples' liberty." Abolition of war, labor and capital, merchant marine, conservation and waterways are the subject of other planks.

Stewart had no plank on farm relief but Barney P. Sheridan, Fond du Lac dairyman, sought consideration of one to aid the dairy industry. Assembling "the Republican party pledged to high tariffs has betrayed the faith of the nation's dairymen by ignoring the demands to block the importation of vast amounts of cheap butter, milk and cream," Sheridan would have the Democratic party pledge itself to a policy that will preserve a home market for the nation's dairy products and animal fats, as well as legislation that will minimize substitution.

KAUKAUNA MAN PRESENT

One of the delegates of the Wisconsin delegation was the presence of Louis F. Nelson, Kaukauna, who will sit in the convention to vote in place of James Hughes, Green Bay, who died last week. Hughes was the vice gubernatorial candidate elected in Wisconsin, defeating Nelson, a Callahan man. The Brown-co man was unable to be present and Nelson has been designated as his alternate.

RAINBOW VETERANS TO HAVE INITIATION FEE

All Rainbow veterans who are not members of the Appleton Rainbow Veterans organization on or before Jan. 1 will have to pay an initiation fee of $10 if they wish to join after that date it was decided at the monthly meeting of the organization at the Rainbow cottage on Lake Winnebago at Menasha Monday evening.

The reason for charging the initiation fee, according to the members, was because the present members had purchased the cottage and paid for it and new members would only be paying their share of the cost through the fee.

A radio, donated by Harwood Finkle was accepted.

Luther Graef was elected delegate to the national convention at Columbus Ohio, on July 13, 14 and 15. Several other members are planning to attend the meeting.

The veterans voted to rent the cottage to members of the organization and their families and two families have already signed to take part for two-week periods.

HIGHWAY COMMITTEE LETS CONTRACTS FOR 3 CONCRETE BRIDGES

De Pere Man Gets One Job and Other Two Go to Appleton Contractor

Contracts for building three bridges on county trunk highways were awarded by the county highway commission at a semi-monthly meeting at the courthouse Monday afternoon. They were given as follows:

Adams bridge, town of Oneida, let to Pat M. Garvey, route 2, W. De Pere, for $1,639.14; Elkey bridge, town of Vandenberg, let to Henry Sprister, Appleton, for $1,273.01; Christjohn bridge, town of Oneida, let to Henry Sprister, for $1,273.01.

There were nine bids for each bridge and they ranged from $1,273 to $2,300. Four bids were received on gasoline in 10,000-gallon tank cars but no action was taken on the contract until further investigation is made. Those who submitted estimates were Mars-ton Brothers, Deep Rock Oil company, Zelle-Guenther Oil company of Appleton and the Cities Oil Products company of Green Bay.

A contract for furnishing a 400-gallon tank to be placed on a truck was awarded by the committee to the Fehler Brothers of Marshfield for $213.34. The tank will be used for hauling gasoline to county vehicles after storage tanks have been installed at the county barns and the highway department starts purchasing gasoline in tank car lots.

Other selections are March of the Toys, by Victor Herbert, Columbus a descriptive fantasia, by Herman, and the Star Spangled Banner.

George Nixon, well known Appleton tenor will sing Ramona, by Gilbert and Sullivan, by Gillespie and Shaw.

TRY AUTO CRASH DAMAGE SUIT IN COURT HERE

A suit for $300 damages brought by Richard Bergsbaken, 1121 N. Badger-ave, against Fred Roth, Oshkosh, was opened before Judge Theodore Berg in the upper branch of municipal court Tuesday morning. Roth has filed a counterclaim for $10.

The suits grew out of an automobile accident near the intersection of Highways 47 and 156 in the town of Cicero on Aug. 27, 1927.

Bergsbaken's brother, Maynard driving the Appleton man's car north on Highway 47 collided with the car driven by Roth, who was traveling south on the same road. Bergsbaken claims Roth was driving in the center of the road in a careless and negligent manner and Roth denies he was at fault and blames M. Bergsbaken for the accident.

The case is expected to go to the jury sometime Tuesday afternoon.

TEST LAWYERS RIGHT TO COLLECT CLIENT'S DEPOSIT CERTIFICATE

Administration of Estate Says Bank Erred in Giving Money to Behnke

Liability of a bank when it cashes a certificate of deposit presented by an attorney for the certificate holder is being tested in circuit court here in a suit instituted by Julius Endlich, as administrator of the estate of his father, Jacob Endlich, against the bank of Black Creek and the First National bank of Appleton.

Endlich complains that following the death of his father, $2,099.74 was deposited in the Black Creek bank to pay off a mortgage on property in Black Creek and the certificate of deposit was turned over to C. E. Behnke, former Appleton lawyer, representing the administrator, who it is alleged, presented the certificate to the bank here and collected the money but failed to turn it over to the estate.

Behnke since has left the state and Mr. Endlich has been unable to collect the money. He contends the banks had no right to cash the certificate but the bank contends they had no way of knowing that Behnke was not authorized to take the money as the attorney for Mr. Endlich.

A jury was drawn in circuit court before Judge Edgar A. Werner Tuesday morning and it was expected the panel would be completed Tuesday afternoon.

SCHNEIDER TO ATTEND MADISON LABOR MEETING

Congressman George J. Schneider attended a meeting Tuesday morning in Wisconsin Rapids at which plans for enforcing the "one-day-rest-seven" law in the paper mills of Wisconsin was discussed. Representatives of the state federation of labor, the state industrial commission and the paper mill owners were present at the meeting. Following the conference in Wisconsin Rapids Congressman Schneider left for Madison where he was to meet Wednesday with the executive committee of the state federation of labor. The latter body was to hold a joint conference with the American Society of Equity.

BRIDGE ABUTMENT UNDERMINED BY WATER

Several large stones forming part of an abutment for the S. Oneida-st bridge were undermined by water pouring from the spillways of the new dam Saturday afternoon, leaving a gap some 18 inches high and 3 feet long. The sluice gate opposite the abutment has been closed and water is permitted to escape over the top of all gates.

FATE OF MALCOLM HANGS IN BALANCE; JURY DELIBERATES

Kimberly Man Charged With Perjury in Testimony on Attempted Rape Case

Alex Malcolm, Kimberly, was found guilty of perjury in connection with testimony given when he was being tried on a charge of attempted rape, by a jury in the court of Judge Edgar V. Werner at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Norbert Wydevyen, also of Kimberly, is serving a term of from one to two years in the state reformatory at Green Bay, having pleaded guilty to the statutory charge.

Testimony in the case of state versus Alex Malcolm, Kimberly, charged with perjury, was completed early Tuesday morning in circuit court before Judge Edgar V. Werner. The jury retired at 10:20 but at 2 o'clock had reached no decision.

Malcolm is accused of giving false testimony at his preliminary hearing before Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court seven months ago on a charge of assault with intent to rape. This charge was dismissed when he established an alibi for the night on which it was alleged the crime took place.

District Attorney John A. Lonsford, who prosecuted Malcolm on the perjury charge, based the charge on evidence which he claims shows the Kimberly man's alibi was false.

Malcolm and Norbert Wydevyen, also of Kimberly, were arrested early in March on charges, preferred by the state of Grand Chute, J. Wydevyen pleaded guilty to assault with intent to rape and is now serving a sentence of from one to two years in the reformatory at Green Bay.

On the night of Feb. 28, when it is alleged the offense took place, witnesses for the defense testified that Malcolm has spent the evening with his fiancée, Miss Esther Schneider, who resides on a farm near Neenah.

About 10 o'clock he left the farm at Neenah and drove to his home in Kimberly, arriving there about 11 o'clock and then went to bed. His parents and his girl testified this story was true.

The prosecution introduced witnesses who claimed they saw Malcolm with Wydevyen in Appleton about 10:30 on the night of the alleged assault.

Wydevyen, who was brought from the reformatory to testify, claimed Malcolm was with him when the assault took place, while Malcolm claims Wydevyen is lying. The girl involved in his case was unable to positively identify Malcolm.

The New "Blue Line" Picot Top Hose Smartly Hemstitched in Matching Shade $2.00 a pair

The Blue Line is a newcomer in the Hosiery Section and because of its dainty good looks is certain to be very popular. The top is finished with an edge picoted in blue and the edge of the hem where it joins the body of the hose is hemstitched. Made of finest quality pure thread silk in the smart colors for summer. Full-fashioned with slender ankle. $2 a pair.

The Hosiery Mending Service A way of restoring to usefulness the hose in which runs have appeared

Many friends of Pettibone's have taken advantage of the hosiery mending service with complete satisfaction to themselves. This is a service for repairing hosiery which has developed runs. It is important to bring in the hose for repair as soon as the run appears, as the cost of repairing depends on the character and length of the run. The mending is so well done that the closest scrutiny scarcely reveals the mended part.

Consult the saleswomen in the Hosiery Section about the cost of the mending service. It varies in proportion to the extensiveness of the run.
